CHICAGO, Oct. 6 .- (Special Dispatch.) The Times-Herald will tomorrow print a symposium of telegrams on the re-ligious views of the Governors of the United States. The following facts are brought out: Of forty-four State Governors in the Union thirty-nine are avowed believers in religion, twenty-nine are professed Christians, most of them are regular attendants at worship and a majority are contributors to the

and a majority are contributors to the expense of religious work.
Responses were obtained from forty-three of the State Governors and three of the Territorial executives. Of State Governors one, Culberson of Texas, declined to define his sentiments and no one would speak for him, and another, Gov. Evans of South Carolina, falled to respond in any way. But those of the other States spoke freely and frankly, and it is ascertained that among them there are ten Presbyterians, five Congregationalists, five Episcopalians, four Methodists, three Unitarians, one Baptist, one Christian and sixteen unconnected with church organizations.

Why Harrison is Out of Politics.

Eighteen Months' Receipts More Than the Salary of the President.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's Private Secretary Arrives at San Fran-cisco and Talks of Bimetal-lism—Good for England.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—(Special Dispatch.) Gossip about the attitude of ex-President Harrison toward the next Republican nomination has brought out some interesting facts in respect to the work he is engaged upon, and some of his friends say the pleas-ure which he derives from it and the ample fortune that he is thus building up have more attractions for him than another nomination. A friend who discussed the situation today said that Gen. Harrison's re-ceipts from his law practice during the past eighteen months in cases in which he appeared in court aggregated more than the President's salary, and, be-sides this, he had made large fees in cases where he had acted only as navis-ory counsel. He has appeared in the ar-gument of the case of the city of Indianapolis against a street railway com-pany, for which he received a fee of $25,000; in the McKeen-Ives case, in-volving the ownership of the Vandalia Railroad, for which he also received $25,000; and in the Morrison will case at Richmond, where he was paid $12,000. In addition to this he received $10,000 for five law lectures delivered at the Stanford University. These four services aggregated him $72,000, and, besides these, he has been connected with a number of no less important cases, in which he has not appeared in court at all, but which he has really directed.

He has found his cases which do no take him into court so congenial that his friends say there is a strong prob-ability that he will ultimately confine, himself entirely to office work. These cases consist of questions which arise in the management of large corporation interests and others which involve con stitutional principles. In many of the cases in which he has been employed he has refused to appear as regular evunsel in the trial in court, and has acted only as advisory counsel, his work be-ing done in his private office, and con-sisting of opinions on the application of the law, of advice as to the line of argument to be followed, and in supplying authorities to the case under consid-

It is said that cases of this class in which he has acted only as advisory counsel have netted him as much since his return from Washington as those in which he has participated actively

AN ENGLISH INQUIRER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—A. S. riffith-Boscawen, one of the Conservative members of the House of Commons, and private secretary to Sir Michael Hicks-Beach who fills the position of Chancellor of the Exchequer in Salisbury's Cabinet, arrived in the city yesterday with his wife. They are guests at the Palace Hotel at the Palace Hotel.

Mr. Boscawen has been a member of the lower house in the British Parliament since 1892, when he was elected over Capt. Francis Pavy, Liberal, by a considerable majority. In the last election he was chosen to succeed himself without opposition. He represents the district of Tunbridge in Kent. He is a cousin of Lord Falmouth and is also related to Hugh Le Despencer Boscawen of the First Life Guards, who married a daughter of Earl Fitzwilliam

Boscawen is deeply interested in the silver question, a question which naturally commends itself to his consideration in view of his close relations with the Chancellor of the Exchequer. He is accordingly giving the study of the silver question considerable time due. is accordingly giving the study of the silver question considerable time dur-ing his recreation jaunt, though his in-quiries in that direction are not being made at the solicitation of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach. In fact, he says, the Chancellor of the Exchequer does not even know that he is here, nor does he know what his views are, or the inten-tions of the British government. "I am naturally anxious to hear what the Americans think of the silver ques-tion as I go through the country." he the Americans think of the silver question as I go through the country." In said. "There is a strong bimetallifeeling in England and there is also a strong feeling in favor of monometal lism. England is the creditor nation We lend money to other nations and receive our interest in gold. Whether it would be better to preserve this finantial system and benefit the whole country, or whether it would be better tadopt a bimetallic standard and give the producers a better chappe, is one try, or whether it would be better to adopt a bimetallic standard and give the producers a better chance, is one of the leading questions of the day with us. Were I an American I would be a bimetallists. As an Englishman, I am undecided.

"That bimetallism would operate greatly to the advantage of the English producer, I am fully satisfied. The English farmers formerly raised a great deal of grain. Now they raise very little. The cause of this transition is easy of explanation. They cannot compete with those countries which have a silver standard. Argentine has sprung into prominence as one of the principal wheat-producing countries of the world. The Argentine farmer is working on a silver basis. He pays for his land in silver; he pays his help in silver. He sends his wheat to England and he receives gold for it. By this practice he gets twice as much for his product as the English farmer would receive. That is to say, his profits are twice as large for the reason that he pays for the cost of production in silver, and sells that which he produces for gold.

"If England adopted a bimetallic standard there would be more money in circulation, prices would go up and the English producer would get better prices for his products. Looking at it in this light, bimetallism would be a good thing for England. Considering the fact, however, that England is the creditor nation, and is interested in seeing her credits paid in gold, the question immediately becomes complicated and extremely difficult of solution. It do not paid verses in the ties, that whatever is done should be done by in-ternational agreement."

Boscawen said that the members of the lower house are expecting to see Henry M. Stanley take a prominent part in the deliberations of the coming session.

"Parliament only met for three weeks after the election," he said, "and Stanley only had an opportunity to make one speech. It was in respect to the Uganda question. The British government had practically decided to maintain a protectorate over the Central African province, and some of the radical members were opposing an approafrican province, and some of the radleal members were opposing an appropriation for the construction of a railway to Uganda from the coast. Stanley knew more about the country than any other member of the House from the fact that he discovered it, and he was firm in his declarations that the future of Uganda depended solely on the railway project. He said Europeans would not go into Central Africa and develop the resources of the country unless a railway line was built from the coast. Well, the proposition was voted, a partial appropriation was made with which to commence work, and I think the Uganda railway project will be carried to a successful completion."

aLBANY (N. Y..) Oct. s.—The special committee of anti-woman suffragists headed by Mrs. John V. The members of the committee are perfectly aware that it is unconstitutional and wrong to ask of any person seeking nomination or election to the Legislature, any pledge as to his discharge of the responsibility of his position. They are anxious therefore to urge upon the voters of the State that they should take pains to secure the nomination and election to the Legislature of men known to be opposed to the imposition upon woman of the unwelcome and unsuitable responsibility of the ballot. It is not thought wise or necessary to ensure the new argument in this appeal upon woman of unitable responsibility of the band. tractors Causing a Stir. NEW YORK, Oct. 6.-A dispatch to a ocal paper from Panama says that the claim against the Colombian govern-ment by English railway contractors ment by English railway contractors continues to be the all-absorbing topic of discussion in the press, and the excitement of all classes.

The contract for building the Santander railway was similar to that for the building of the Antioquin railway. The same contractors rejected it suddenly, a long time ago, alleging through their legal agent, Spencer, that not having the necessary funds and being unable to raise a loan, they were incapable of fulfilling their obligation. The government agreed to pay them a small amount which they had spent in preliminary work.

In November, 1893, Spencer was authorized by the contractors to settle all the claims against the government for £50,000; now the sum claimed is £640,000, equivalent to about 6,700,000 pesos in silver currency.

Dr. Luhrsen, the German Minister, who was obliged by orders of his government to resign from the Arbitration Committee, of which he has been president since May, is preparing a circular letter to the local press. This letter is not, it is said, to be written in the pleasantest terms, the official standing of the British Minister, O. F. B. Jenner, who supports the claim of the contractors is not enviable. Socially he is repudiated, and generally all opinions repudiated, and generally all opinions are unanimous against him.

Passes Are Not for Such the ex-Boss of the Democrats.

Devil" That the Southern Pacific Was Part of His Combination

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(Special Dispatch.) No one knows better when a man has lost his political power and is no longer useful than Collis P. Huntington, and that is the reason why the Southern Pacific no longer honors Chris Buckley's requisition for passes. With Buckley's requisition for passes, with no patronage to give his followers, and no railroad passes at his disposal, the statesman from Ravenswood will find it a difficult matter to keep the gang

During Buckley's campaign to secure control of the Democratic General Comontrol of the Democratic General Com-nittee, the ex-boss and his lieutenants oldly proclaimed that the Southern Pacific was a part of their combination, and whenever it became necessary the great corporation would put its great influence, and, better still, its cash into the fight. It was a strong card, and Buckley played it for all it was worth Buckley made his fight and lost, but he and his followers still believed that they had the Southern Pacific. They lid not want to lose it, because the cor or not want to lose it, because the cor-poration was expected to furnish rich picking for the Buckleyites who had been out of a job so long. Today, so the story goes, Buckley sent a requisi-tion to the railroad people for a pass or two, confident that the order would be honored with the same speed and willingness with which such orders had been honored in the past. Tanging the been honored in the past. Imagine the surprise of Buckley, and the consterna-tion of those who are close to him, when the requisition was returned in-dorsed: "We are very sorry, but must decline to issue the transportation you request."

Collis P. Huntington is in town and he has been here lorg enough to become posted on the political situation. The "old man" does not hesitate to extend all the favors asked for by men who are in charge of the Democratic train, but, like the brakemen in his employ, he throws overhead many the control of the property of the employ, he throws overboard men who cannot give him something in return. The Buckleyites must walk hereafter, pay fare or get in the ranks of the oposition.

Democrats throughout the State have been much interested in the fight in this city. A Democrat who is prominent in his party in one of the southern counties, was in the city today and, in talking of the matter, stated that the people in the certification. ple in his section were pleased with the defeat of Buckley and would stand by the new junta if a contest arises in

The ambassadors of the powers held a conference today and drew up a collective note which will be presented to the Porte tomorrow. Afterward they went to the Porte personally and made verbal representations on the subject of Armenia. The foreign men-of-war, which are acting as guardships, have been ordered to moor in the harbor for the winter in order to protect foreigners in case of need.

Sir Philip Currie has asked leave for the purpose of visiting the Armenians now in prison and to draw up a report. Up to Friday eighty bodies had been registered as victims of the disorder, all of whom had been terribly wounded. Some of them contained over twenty gashes, besides bullet wounds, and others had been battered with bludgeons so as to be unrecognizable. All accounts concursing the number of victims thrown find the sea was only three. The gendarmes killed a few of the wounded.

ARMENIAN IRONY.
CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—In his opening lecture at the Grand Operahouse today before the Society for Ethical Culture, Mangasarin, the Armenian leader of the organization, referring to the Armenian massacre, said he would suggest that the Armenians withdraw their petition to the Christians for sympathy and appeal for help to the Sultan of Morocco, the Ameer of Afghanistan, the Khedive of Egypt and the Shah of Persia.

"The Christian world," he said, "is perhaps waiting to see the Armenians embrace Mohammedanism that it may send missionaries to reconvert them, one by one, and at great expense."

Next Sunday Mangasarin will lecture on "The Religious Aspects of the Uprising in Constantinople."

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTA SAN FRANCISCO. Oct. 6.—Naturally the subject uppermost in Attorney Deuprey's mind is the damaging statement made by Dr. Gilbert F. Graham against Durrant, which was published today. The knowledge that Durrant's classmate had announced his intention to go on the witness-stand and testify that the recovered had confessed to his mate had so the witness-stand and testify that the accused had confessed to him that he had no notes of Dr. Cheney's lecture nettled the attorney not a little, although he declared that he was confident of breaking Graham down on cross-examination.
"What do I think of Graham's statement?" said Deuprey, repeating the question asked him. "Why, I am amazed at it. I cannot understand it. amazed at it. I cannot understand it. Really, I have talked with Graham, and he never mentioned such a thing to me. In fact he denied, in the presence of four witnesses, that Durrant had ever made an improper proposal to him. I have heard that he was likely to make such a statement, and asked him point-blank regarding the matter. He declared positively that nothing of the kind had taken place during his interview with Durrant. I was very favorably impressed with Graham, and believed, and believe yet, as far as that is concerned, that he told me the truth. He struck me as being a quiet, intelligent young fellow, who could not be led to say anything he did not mean. But the statement he now makes to the police surprises me.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6 .- The reve cutter Rush arrived today after he nue cutter Rush arrived today after her summer cruise in Bering Sea. She left for the North early in May last, and since then she has been keeping a-watchful eye on the sealing fleet to pre-vent any infractions of the interna-tional law regarding the taking of seals and also the national law in regard to the importation of liquor into Alaska. The Rush cruised almost continually about the eastern part of the sea, while Commodore Perry, Thomas Corwir Grant went further west.

and Grant went further west.
There were skuty-five sealing schooners in Bering Sea, and the cutters were kept busy overhauling them. The schooners E. B. Marvin and Beatrice of Victoria, the Louis Olsen of San Francisco, and the Shelby of Puget Sound, were seized for violating the sealing law, and sent home. All of them were charged with using firearms in capturing seals instead of spears. in capturing seals, instead of spears as provided by the international agree-

The cutter's officers say there is absolutely no truth in the reports circulated by the masters of some of the sealing schooners of discrimination against them in favor of the English seal-hunters. The basis of the stories probably originated from the fact that by a clause in the international agreement rearding the billions. by a clause in the international agreement regarding the killing of seals in the Bering seas, the English have the right to board American vessels and seal up their arms. The American patrol vessels cannot exercise this privilege on boarding hunting-schooners. The Americans board the English vessels and examine the skins, and by that means it is not difficult to tell whether a gun or a spear has been used to kill the animal. Whether the guns are sealed or not it is practically the same, and there is little chance for an offender to escape.

These were the words uttered last night at the close of the regular service by Rev. J. M. Townsend, colored, pastor of Quinn Chapel at Twenty-fourth street and Wabash avenue. An audience of a thousand colored people applauded the sentiment and rose to their feet to further show their appreciation of their pastor's stand.

Rev. Mr. Townsend's sermon had been called forth by the report in the morning papers of the outrages upon Neal Smith at Chattanooga. When it was finished, the pastor gave out the hymn. "Thou Sleepeth Justice, Awake." At the conclusion of the singing, Rev. Mr. Townsend asked the audience to remain a short time.

"I want no one to leave the house while I am speaking." He produced a clipping from a morning paper, read the account of the torturing of Neal Smith, and then said: "This must stop in a Christian land. Corbett complains that the papers in New Orleans do him an injustice regarding the Fitzsimmons stake money.

"A few day's before I left New York." said the champion, "Phil Dwyer, the stakeholder, came down to Asbury Park and told me that $5500 of Fitzsimmons's stake money had been attached. He said also that he understood the remaining $1550 would also be attached. He told me that in the event I should win I would get no stake money whatever. Now my friends have put up $10,000 for me and they are betting it against nothing. I submit that would not be acting fairly with my friends without at least a word of remonstrance. It sems to me that Fitzsimmons simply wants a loose end of the belt. He dose no reputation if I defeat him and he has a chance, of course, to win big money.

"I hope and believe that they will be able to pull the fight off, but it is an assured fact that it will not be in Dallas. Fitzsimmons will appear there on October 31 and he will get his $2500, half of the forfeit money. Now after Fitzsimmons gets that $2500 he can pocket, it and go traveling over the country, gathering in the shekels on advertising. He is a big winner right there. What I want is to have the referee appointed right now and have him name the battle-ground. Let the referee have authority to say to us 'the moment the business is fixed meet me at such a place and fight for the stakes and championship." If Fitzsimmons is as anxious to meet me as he claims, is that not an excellent way to assure a meeting? It seems to me that is fair.

"I do not want to name the referee. I am perfectly willing that Fitzsimmons shall name six men of known ability and honesty and I will appear the country.

"I do not want to name the release." I am perfectly willing that Fitzsimmons shall name six men of known ablity and honesty and I will accept the man, George Siler and Yank Sullivan barred. I want to fight Fitzsimmons and I don't want him to get out of the State without a meeting."

Graphic Admits it Has Robbe

Britons of Conceit.
(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
LONDON, Oct. 7.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Graphic says this morning of the Yale-Cambridge contest at Nev "America has taken the conceit out of us in a way unequalled since Australia beat England at the Oval in 1892, and it is in a way unequalled since Australia beat England at the Oval in 1892, and it may, perhaps, be a long time before we recover from the shock. As a first step toward accepting defeat gracefully we might, perhaps, cease to talk too much about the difference of climate as a contributary cause to our defeat. When the Yale team came over and were beaten by Oxford, they had to compete under conditions of cold and damp quite foreign to their experience. We did not have the disadvantages which Yale suffered in the diminution of their triumph, and it is not quite game to enlarge upon similar causes in mitigation of our defeat."

The Standard says: "The victory was most decisive in view of the fact that except for Fitzherbert the Cantabs performed as well as they generally have done at home. One is given to the conclusion that Oxford was somewhat lucky to beat Yale, or decidedly unlucky in subsequently losing to Cambridge. It is impossible to shut one's eyes to the fact that at the present time America is peculiarly rich in capable athletes of all kinds."

The Sportsman says: "The result is not so utterly disastrous as the London Athletic Club defeat, but it does not leave us much to boast of. It is quite evident that the Cantabs have not done well at their training, owing to the great heat."

I went to New Orleans and, as luck would have it, got five ex-United States cavalrymen and a very smart German, in chemistry, and is an expert in making all kinds of explosives. We started from Tampa, Fia., on a small steamer on March 12, 1895, and landed without any trouble near Santiago de Cuba. Now I will describe the soldiers that were sent from Spain. They are a young lot of boys, who are not acclimated and are dying like sheep. They have a little bedding and a small rubber cape to cover their shoulders and are all armed with the Mansur rifles and machetes. "My commission gives me the privilege to forage on the enemy and destroy all property belonging to the sympathizers of the government. Since my arrival here my company has been in several engagements. I sent out a scouting party in charge of Lieut. Hamilton, a former private in the Seventh United States Cavalry. He returned in two hours, reporting that he came across twenty-two Spanish soldiers in camp, eating dinner, and with no guards out. He approached within 200 yards of their camp.

"I took seventy-five men at once, and arriving at the camp at 2:20 o'clock, surrounded them, and in twenty-five minutes after our arrival captured one officer and fifteen men, and killed six men. We daily encountef small bands of Spanish troops, annihilating them like you would grouse on a cold and frosty morning. Our first defeat was private in the Fourth United States Cavalry, after a two days' scout, returned and reported seventy-five. Spanish soldiers coming this way, and escorting three government officers. We started with eighty-five, and instead of finding seventy-five Spanish troops, we ran into a hornet's nest of 2000. We retreated with eighty-five, and instead of finding seventy-five Spanish troops encamped at a small town a pocket-knife to a German repeating cannon without any amunition. On August 26 we moved our headquarters thirty miles further no

TAMPA (Fis.,) Oct. 6.—Passengers arriving from Cuba report the landing on Thursday of an expedition in Honda, forty miles west of Havana, composed of 188 wall-armed men supposed to be commanded by Cellazo, or Corrillo.

Martines de Campos reached Havana on Thursday morning from Santa Clara. That night the insurgents under Gen. Sanchez entered the city of Santa Clara as far as Central Park, killing many Spanish soldiers, obtaining their arms, ammunition and provisions and returning to the country. It was a most daring attack and caused great excitement. Campos, upon hearing of the bold stroke, left Thursday at midnight for Santa Clara, without having given audience to any one. His sudden departure from Havana created consternation there.

Rallway communication to Santa Clara is impossible. The insurgents have destroyed the track and the storm of Tuesday seriously damaged all the approaches to Havana. Over fifteen thousand bales of tobacca are stored in Clara is impossible. The insurgents have destroyed the track and the storm of Tuesday seriously damaged all the approaches to Havana. Over fifteen thousand baies of tobacco are stored in Remedio and Santa Clara, but the insurgents prohibit their removal.

From Ell Pueblo Oyo Colorado, thirty leading men joined the insurgents, after being enlisted and equipped as Spanish volunteers. They are going out Tuesday under Alfredo Mota. From Alquiae on Thursday night thirty men joined the insurgents. This is forty miles from Havana.

In the city of Matanzas the houses of prominent citizens were searched for arms, unsuccessfully. Capt. Jose la Crete has joined Encruida, near Sagua la Granda, and destroyed the rallway station and the tracks. The large plantation in Clenfuegos of Marquis Apistigui, a Cuban who affiliated with the Spanish, was entirely burned by the insurgents on Monday, He offered ammunition and money to save his property, but without avail.

Gen. Mello, with a Spanish detachment, left Puerto Principe on September 19 for Santiago province. Nothing has been heard from him since, and fears that the whole detachment has been lost have been entertained. The storm and rains ruined newly-planted tobacco. The authorities are taxing the merchants of Havana for subscriptions of large amounts to ald in the purchase of new warships. The Spanish soldiers' rations for several days consisted of a piece of dried beef and pilot bread.

HEADQUARTERS IRISH NATIONAL ALLIANCE, New York, Oct. 6.
To all friends of Irish independence: The convention which recently organized at Chicago the Irish National Alliance has placed its guidance and government in the hands of the undersigned for the ensuing two years. The purpose of the ialliance has already been proclaimed, to obtain the complete independence of Ireland from England by any means consistent with the plete independence of Ireland from England by any means consistent with the laws of nations. Organizations have to depend upon their revenue for the successful accomplishment of their duties, like governments. The "sinews of war" are absolutely necessary to both. England has at her disposal immense resources, the accumulation of centuries of conquest and piracy. She has it in her power to control or mode public opinion in her own interests. Even in free America she possesses this power to an actounding extent; her side of the Irish question has filled the American mind for a quarter of a century, ever since Ireland's friends at home and abroad committed the costly error of trusting to parliamentary agitation to abroad committed the costly error of trusting to parliamentary agitation to achieve the liberty of their motherland. Now, however, a totally different policy has been inaugurated. The absolute claim of Ireland to a distinct national life has been placed forcibly before the world by the unanimous voice of the recent Irish national congress, held in Chicago. Provincialism has been cast aside, and the national demand of Ireland, which slumbered, but did not die, is again in the ascendant. We are determined that it shall so remain, and that no cort of ours, no sacrifice on formed until victory crowns our sacred cause.

We appeal, therefore, to all friends of the independence of Ireland to aid us in this good work by placing at our disposal the means required for its accomplishment. You are asked to subscribe in accordance with your means, and to forward your subscriptions as soon as , ossible to the secretary of the Irish National Alliance, Hon. P. J. ten were fatally injured, and between thirty and forty others were badly hurt.

The services were just about to begin when the accident happened. Fully three thousand people were assembled on and around the platform, which had been constructed across the foundation of the edifice. The boards forming the temporary floor had been laid across the joists, which were supported in the middle by upright posts. These supports broke, and the floor went down with a crash. Fully three hundred persons were thrown into the pit formed by the sagging in the middle of the floor. For a moment everybody was, paralyzed by the calamity, but soon there was a rush forward by those willing to lend assistance to the crushed and struggling people. This made matters worse, for fifty more persons were crowded forward into a hole upon those who went down with the floor. When the confusion had subsided somewhat, many of those who were able to extricate themselves did so by walking or crawling over the less fortunate. The work of rescue was begun at once, and all were finally taken from the pit. The following is a list of the victims:

Many others were severely brüised. The old Catholic church was at once turned into a hospital. A score of doctors were called, and they were kept for hours caring for the injured, several of whom will die before morning. The accident was due to defective timbers. The contractor was told yesterday that the platform was insecure, but he said it would hold all the people that would be crowded upon it. There were between fifteen hundred and two thousand people on it when it gave way. Despite the accident the services were continued, and the laying of the cornerstone was completed.

While no reason is assigned by the commanding officers of these vessels for the movement; it is assumed to be commanding officers of these vessels for the movements, it is assumed to be a desire of the admiral commanding the station to have them in Southern China where they may be readily available in the event of trouble such as has been experi-nced during the past summer in the looting and burning of missionary property. Both the Machias and Monacacy are of light draught and adapted for navigating the Chinese waters.

The Pentathlon contest, participated in by the members of the Young Men's Christian Associations of the State of California, which will occur in the Athletic Park Saturday, October 12, will be one of the athletic events of the season. Prominent athletes from all parts of the State will take part in the various This contest which occurs events. This contest, which occurs every year where the State convention is held, is a peculiar characteristic of the physical department of the Young Men's Christian Association. The name Pentathion is taken from the Greek, which signifies a five-pointed contest. The idea involved in the Pentathion ntest is to produce the best all-round contest is to produce the best air-round athleter, as will be seen from the events chosen, which are as follows:

One hundred-yard dash, throwing twelve-pound hammer, running high jump, pole-vaulting and the mile run.
In addition to the above there will be twelve-pound hammer, running high jump, pole-vaulting and the mile run.

In addition to the above there will be a two-mile bicycle event. In the Pentathlon contest, eight men will enter from each association in the State; the one securing the highest number of points will win for himself a medal, and he, together with the two who have secured the highest number of points in the past two years, will compete for the association trophy, which consists of a silk banner with gold trimmings, surmounted by a golden eagle, presented by the J. J. Pfister Knitting Company of San Francisco. Three chosen men from each association in the State will enter the bicycle race; the successful contestant winning a medal for himself, and for the association which he represents a silver cup with a bicycle rider thereon engraved. These are on exhibition at the rooms of the city Y.M.C.A.

The following towns throughout the State will be represented in the different events: San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton, Sacramento, Ventura, San Jose, Woodland, Santa Cruz, Redlands, Riverside, Pasadena, San Diego, besides the various college associations which will also participate. Recognized local athletes will look after the interests of the Los Angeles association, among whom are W. B. Sheckles, Clem Wilson, Fred L. Morrel, Charles Stimson, Morris M. Cook, August Dee, C. E. Rowe, George D. Biddle, William Salisbury, William E. de Lay and others.

On each of the five events a possible 100 points may be made. Throwing the hammer 100 feet would make 100 points. The running high-jump will have to be made at 5 feet 7 inches to make 100 points. The running high-jump will have to be made at 6 feet must be reached to make the score 100 points. The mile run will have to be made at five will not be run as sociation won the Pentathion contest last year, which was held at Oakland. This is the first year in which a two-mile bicycle event has figured. At the present writing the list of entries from the outside towns cannot be given, as the committee in charge

THE FOOTBALL SEASON.

"Chryanthemum" Hair Will Soon be All the Rage.

Last year football received a good deal of attention in this part of the State, and the present season promises to be even more interesting. In '94 there were several Southern California towns that boasted of football teams, the most received below the process. the most notable being the Redlands team that claimed the championship of there were several Southern California towns that boasted of football teams, the most notable being the Redlands team that claimed the champlonship of Southern California. There were also several teams in this city. The Occidental College eleven was probably the most prominent, as it played a regular series of games. The team has already opened the season of '95, having defeated the Whittier team by a score of 4-0 on September 30.

Other Los Angeles teams are the High School and the Athletic Club. The last-named organization played the big game of the season, with Stanford, but as it was composed almost entirely of Occidental, Redlands and Los Angeles High-school players it could hardly be called an Athletic Club eleven, but rather an all-Southern California team. The Occidentals will play Throop on the college grounds, October 12.

In the East interest will be centered in the Harvard, Yale, Princeton and University of Pennsylvania teams. Cornell and a few others will attract more or less attention, but the first-named four will, as heretofore, be the teams in which the public will be mostly interested. Nobody can say anything definite regarding any of these teams at present. Each one of them will have considerable new material, and each one of these new players will certainly make matters very uncertain until they have been thoroughly tried. We ought to be able to produce just as good players as those we have had, because an old adage says: "There are just as good fish in the sea as have been caught," But, while there is much truth in this, it often takes a long time to catch one as good as the best we have had. Some of the players that have left the leading teams since last year were of the very best quality, and while it is probable that other players will spring up just as good, it may be quite a while before they are found. For instance, none of us will for a moment think that there will never be two as good were, but it is safe to say that their equals will not be readily found. It is very likely that a l such as prevailed in the earlier days of the American turf. The great contests of Eclipse against Henry, Foston against Fashion, Tally-Ho against Free Trade, and of Fashion against Peytona, are now but vague traditions in the mind of the average race-goer. The refined instincts of our modern civilization are against heat-racing, which often protracts a struggle to twelve or sixteen miles. Three or four miles, with a big weight up, and run at a strong pace, is quite arduous enough as a test of any horse's powers.

"Doubtless the biggest figure in base-balldom is Edward Hanlon of the Baltimore club. He is confessedly at the head of the managers, and many a club would give a great deal to secure his services. When Mr. Hanlon findled the Pittsburgh club he gave little promise of his true abilities. It was only after he had gone to Baltimore basell was at a very low stage. It was fairly bank-rupt and could have been had for a song. Today it would take a small-sized fortune to secure the club, if it could be bought at all, and it is one of the most valuable of the baseball franchises in the country. All this is due to the talent and energy of Mr. Hanlon, who has organized a club that is confessed to be one of the greatest baseball clubs ever got together. To have won the pennant in 1834 was no it small task, but to secure the same in 1835, when the champion club was a mark for alleomers, was extraordinary. The obstacles to win this year were considerably greater than last season."

a big weight up, and run at a strong pace, is quite arducus enough as a test of any horse's powers.

The main movers in the matter are Adolph B. Spreckels and Henry J. Crocker, both of whom have piethoric bank accounts, and will not let money stop them. It is now too late to talk about what might have been done in former years. Those two men paid liberally for getting up races, and all they asked was that races be squarely run. Even that was denied them, and then they resolved upon a new departure. It will be seen whether they have spent their money in vain or not. My own belief is that the winter meeting of 1895 at lingleside will be the memorable turf at lingleside will be the memor

Frank James, the great outlaw, now drops the timer's flag at the fair grounds track, St. Louis. Ever since Frank reformed he has had the aid of prominent Missourians in keeping him in good positions—mainly, perhaps, because he fought with Quantrell. Frank has always followed the turf, being an owner even in his outlaw days.

That the Western League has been prosperous this season is shown by the fact that Manager Comiskey of St. Paul says that he has cleared in the neighborhood of 20,000. President Killilea says that the Milwaukee Club cleared $11,000. Treasurer Galt of Indianapolis cliams that the Hoosiers quit $10,000 to the good, and Manager Manning has about the same balance in his treasury.

and the Pacific will alternate every two weeks during the season. In a month from now the Ingleside track will rank with the best on the continent, and will be a monument to the enterprise and pluck of the promoters.

The low ebb to which the thoroughbred has failen is shown by the victories of Henry of Navarre, When he beat Domino at a mile and an eighth he was short of work. In the Brooklyn special he beat Clifford a length and a half, and could have beaten him twenty lengths if necessary. Mr. Belmont wants to try the colt at a mile and a half, and there is nothing to go against him. Of all the alleged stake horses in the East, there is not one that can go the distance.

Hal Pointer has one of the most brilliant records of any pacer, excepting possibly old Johnston. He made his debut in 1888 at Columbia, Tenn, and was campaigned for six successive seasons. During that time he started in forty-four races, winning first money in no less than thirty-five of them, second in five, fourth in one, and was unplaced but three times. His total winnings, not including various amounts paid for exhibitions, amount to $40,910.

The breakdown of Directum is in the exhibitions, amount to $40,910.

The breakdown of Directum is in the mature of a public misfortune. At the very least it will retire him from the track for a year or two, and it is not all improbable that his retirement will be permanent. It consists in the rupture of a tendon in one of nis hind legs. It is now certain that if the stallion record is to be reduced this season, it must be done by some other horse. With all of the brilliant trotters of the present year, there is no stallion among them that is very likely to perform such a feat.

such a feat, The injuries sustained by Foxhall Keene in the polo game at Prospect Park are not so serious as at Park are not so serious as at first supposed. He was thrown from his pony in collision with F. Blockwood Fay of the opposing team and dragged a considerable distance before the pony was caught. When picked up he was unconscious, but revived sufficiently to walk off the field in about fifteen minutes. Mr. Fay was also unhorsed and stunned, but his injuries were not at all serious.

The new bowling rules, as revised by The new bowling rules, as revised by the American Bowling Congrees, have been made public. Some radical changes were made. Every rule appertaining to the game of ten pins was thoroughly overhauled. Rule 9 is probably the most important one. It changes the game from three balls to each frame to two balls, and in no way interferes with the present method of scoring. The next convention of the American Bowling Congress will be held in Brooklyn during the third week in January.

It is pretty generally conceded now

League with big Eastern and Western leagues has again been revived. It comes as ocertainly as the four seasons. Donavan, the world's professional 100-yard aprinter, wants to have a race with Wefers, the amaetur champlom at the same distance, the proceeds to go to charity.

Australian Billy Murphy and Johnny Griffin will fight today at Louisville. Louis Hinkey, a brother of Capt. Frank Hinkey, will, in all probability, play right end for Yale this year.

John L. Sullivan and Paddy Ryan will meet in a four-round boxing captested before the Cleveland Athletic Club October S. It will be for scientific points and the club has put up a good-sized purse.

Tom Burns, the ex-Chicago third baseman, who managed the Springfiell club, seems to be now looked on as the ideal manager. At least three league clubs have hopes of getting him-next season.

Ex-Jockey Garrison wants to box Fred Taral for a suit of clothes. Garrison says he can knock "the Dutchman" out in four rounds. Taral will bet $200 he can't. If the match comes off "Alfy Lakeland will be referee.

From a racing standpoint, says the Breder and Sportsman, the San Jose meeting was a great success, but from the standpoint of patronage it was atmost a failure. More people attended the New York Athletic Club, and the New York Athletic Club, the Commental Price of the New York Athletic Club, the Commental Price sible chance of slipping up will be drafted. Under these circumstances it is natural that the Western will be stronger next season than ever before, and will occupy the place formerly held by the old American Association."

Now that John Huggins, trainer for Pierre Lorillard, has agreed to go across the water, Mr. Lorillard is Lusy laying out plans for his campaign. He has already leased training grounds. His stable will be made up almost ertirely of two-year-olds, as he has no aged horses of any account, Bloomer being about the best he has among his two-year-olds, and she is only a seiling-plater. But it is pretty well understood that he has among his year-lings some that have been highly tried and that if they keep the promise of their youth will make things lively for the English youngsters, unless they are of the best class.

If James Gordon Bennett should be successful in his determination to organize an international circuit to include the best tracks of France, Germany, Austria and Italy, there will be a grand shipment of Western New York horses over the ocean next winter. Village Farm, Jewett Farm, William Simpson and Edward Appel would consign stables of the highest class of performers at both pacing and trotting gaits, while many other gentlemenrepresentative American horsemenwould be enrolled upon the export register. It seems treasonably certain that the new European enterprise will be a go.

Diving at Westlake Park.

Diving at Westlake Park.

Thousands of people witnessed the diving exhibition at Westlake Park yesterday afterpoon. "Prof." Raymons added ten feet to his high-dive of the week before, making a straight dive of seventy-five feet. This is still eight and one-half feet below his best record. Fancy and grotesque dives followed the event of the afternoon. Raymons himself performed twice the backfilp from a height of forty feet. It consists of a straight dive from the plank, succeeded by a somersault in the air, and landing feet foremost in the water. The "professor" was assisted by W. Maxey and I. R. Sheckles, Mr. Sheckles gave a number of grotesque exhibitions, the best being the impersonation of the new woman, in bloomers. At the explosion of a fire-cracker he rolled off the forty-foot plank, landing in the water with a splash. T. T. Edwards, a diver from Illinois, has appeared in response to the standing challenge of $1000 a side, made by Raymons. He gave some show of his skill at the park yesterday, but as yet he and Raymons have come to no agreement. On next Sunday "Prof." Raymons will reneat his performances of yesterday, with other and new features. One of these will be a diventification addition make a straight dive through a burning hoop two feet in diameter, saturated with kerosene. He will in addition make a straight dive from a height of fifty feet with feet tied and hands strapped to his sides. It is the purpose of "Prof." Raymons at future exhibitions to give the pub-lic the benefit of every variety of dive possible from a tower.

Meeting of Associated Cycling Clubs

Last Evening. The Board of Governors of the Associated Cycling Clubs met at the Olive-street clubhouse of the Roamers

President C.C. Monaghan of the Santa Ana Club, presided, and L. C. Groce of the Redlands Cycling Club was secre-tary. Vice-President Hornbeck of San Diego was another officer who was present.

Race meets, club runs and subjects of interest to the clubs were discussed to some length. President Monaghan resigned and H. A. Luther of the Redands Club was unanimously elected to succeed him.

The new constitution was discussed and 500 ordered printed, also a general circular to the clubs.

The board decided to have a special meeting at the Santa Monica meet on the 19th, and similar meetings of the board at all tournaments of the national circuit.

Clubs were represented as follows: Roamers' Road Club, Charles F. Gates,

San Diego Wneelmen, E. A. Hornbeck; Orange County Wheelmen, C. C. Monaghan.

The next monthly meeting of the Associated Cycling Clubs will probably be held in Redlands on the first Saturday evening of November. The Redlands Club expects to have its track done by that time.

The Roamers' Road Club moved to its new clubhouse Saturday. It is a cosy home for this hustling club, and is located at No. 1118 Olive street. In a few days the Roamers will be at home to all their friends.

The Southern Pacific has substituted a class A tandem race for the third-of-a-mile class A event on the programme October 19. The round-trip rate from Los Angeles to Santa Monica and including admission to grounds, will be 50 cents instead of $1.50 as was stated yesterday. The $1.50 rate applies to towns in the interior where the rate is more than that sum and extends as far as Banning.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—(Special Correspondence.) The new racecourse of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club is rapidly drawing toward its completion, and will undoubtedly be ready for a "gathering of the clans" by November 2, as contemplated originally. So far the number of entries is far in excess of number of entries is far in excess of those at any inaugural meeting in America, except that held at Morris Park, N. Y., in 1889. The sweepstake races on the card are fourteen in number, of which four are for two-year-olds, one for three-year-olds, two steeple-chases, and seven handlcaps for the allages division. The total number of entries is 578, representing ninety-five owners of 242 horses. This is without a parallel in the history of American racing.

The track lies at Ingleside, and is now about one mile from the nearest railway station, but there are two lines of electric railway already reaching out in that direction, and it is not wholly unlikely that the Southern Pacific corporation will put in a branch from cur than any other team.

CRAIG AND CREEDON.

An Expert's Opinion of Their Coming Contest.

"Comparatively little notice is being taken of the match between Dan Creedon and Coffee Cooler Craig, which will come off in London at the Bolingbrooke Club. It will be a contest mostly of brute strength against science, and a tolerably good supply of strength."

BASEBALL YESTERDAY.

The Brunswick Club Defeated in a

The best ball game of the season was played at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. Twelve innings were required to settle the contest, and in the twelfth inning one run gave the victory to the Francis Wilson Club. The score was tied in the sixth purpler seek team beying made four citio. The score was tied in the sixtu-ninning, each team having made four runs-up-to-that-time. Thus-five-innings were played after this, without a run being made. Austin and Shaw occu-pled the points for the Brunswick Club, while Tyler and Chapman performed the same service for the Francis Wil-sons. The umpiring of the game was while Tyler and Chapman performed the same service for the Francis Wilsons. The umpiring of the game was very unsatisfactory, three men officiating at different stages of the game. The features of the game were the baserunning of Early, the fielding of Van Horn and the pitching of Austin. The Brunswick team will leave for Riverside today, to engage in a contest with the local team there.

THOSE EASTERN BALL PLAYERS. There is much dissatisfaction felt oyer the prospect of Los Angeles being saddled with an inferior lot of ballplayers to represent this city in the "Coast league," which is to be organ-"Coast league," which is to be organized and operated in the next two months. The Grand Rapids (Mich.) team is billed to locate here and, from all accounts, the team is worse than poor. This club finished last in the Western League, in the season which just closed. The manager of the team was to have paid for the use of Athletic Park by October 1, but no remittance has as yet arrived. Secretary McStay has telegraphed the man that unless the money is paid at once the contract will be canceled. The secretary has received a letter from W. Barrie, formerly manager of the Baltimore Club, and a prominent character in baseball circles, asking for information with regard to the prospect of forming a good ball club in this city. The past reputation of Barrie would indicate that a success of base ball might be made in Los Angeles under his direction.

Santa Monica Track Grandstand.

Like a city set upon a hill the grandstand being erected at the bicycle track cannot be hid. It is very much in evidence, says the Santa Monica Outlook. It lifts itself into the air, and spreadeth itself over a great area. It vauntath itself as greater by far than anything within 'steen yards, and it attracts as much attention as a bloomer club on dress parade. It is in very fact a thing to be proud of, and carries the prophacy of great races on the track, and great crowds to see them, and much comfort to many people. But it is suggestive of still other things, and of nothing more prominently that the dwarfish inadequacy of the Southern Pactific passenger depot near by, which it completely overshadows.

Butterworth, the great Yale fullback, has taken charge of the University of California team this fall.

The talk of replacing the National League with big Eastern and Western leagues has again been revived. It comes as certainly as the four seasons.

Has arrived and located at No. 420 %. Seventh st., and will be pleased to see all who wish to know what the future has in store for them. His revelations of character and ability by means of somnomancy are pronounced nothing short of marvelous, and who has reed the lives of thousands of the best-known people in the world, including many of the crowned nobility of Europe and the uncrowned nobility of America. Prof. Fowler wishes it distinctly understood that he does not claim to possess any occult, spiritual or supernatural power. The results produced, especially in somnomancy and materialization, are weird and bewildering, but the forces and means employed, although not at present thoroughly underatood by the mass of people, are perfectly natural, and may at some future day be utilized by scientific workers. If darkness hangs around you, consult this modern seer, and your future will be made brighter; you will have new life, courage and progress in the future. SHE WANTED BEER

And Hurt Herself Because She Could Not Get It.

Not Get It.

A rumor got abroad last night that there had been a cutting affray in the Palace restaurant. Investigation proved that it was nothing more serious than the cutting of a woman's hand with a broken beer-glass. Several women entered the place shortly before midnight and ordered some beer. As they already appeared to be drunk, they were informed that they could not get anything further to drink. This angered one of them, and she struck her hand violently on an empty beer-glass, breaking it and cutting her wrist. A man sitting at a table close by grabbed her arm before she could do any further damage, and was bespattered with blood. This led to the report that a cutting scrape had occurred in which a man and a woman were concerned. The man, however, was simply an innocent spectator, and acted only to revent the woman from doing herself a man and a woman were concerned.

One of the performing greyhounds that did a horseback feat was killed by an electric car. A valuable horse also died here. A dude was engaged in showing some girl friends how to feed the elephant pennuts, during the afternoon show. He would fire the peanuts, one at a time, into the elephant's cavernous mouth. The elephant considered progress too slow, and when the dandy turned for an instant to speak to the ladies he stuck out his trunk and frantically tried to reach the pocket that held the bag of nuts. He only succeeded in getting a tail hold on the coat and gave a vicious jerk. The young man was hauled against the ropes, but as he could be pulled no farther something had to come, for the animal wanted to get at the nuts. An ominous rent showed what was to be expected. Another good jerk on the elephant's part and the man had only half a coat, while the cunning animal had the other part and the panuts. The girls smiled.

PRESCOTT, Oct. 4.—(Regular Correspondence.) A. J. Dogan, a prominent real estate man here, yesterday had an encounter with a highwayman. He was on the Black Canyon stage, and the first intimation of robbery he had was an order to "hands ap!" backed by a big navy six-shooter. He was then ordered to alight and cut open the mail sack. This he finally did, although reluctantly. As the robber stooped over among the letters, plucky Mr. Doran made a grab for the revolver, and caught it at the barrel. The weapon discharged, narrowly missing the Prescott man. Then came a struggle for the gun, the robber finally wresting it loose. He went through the pockets of Mr. Doran, who was the only passenger; did the same by the driver, and quickly left. He only secured some small change.

Six or eight deputy sheriffs are in the field in pursuit of the murderer Wren. The fugitive is now believed to be in the Minges Mountains, near Gerome, where he formerly did freighting. A man was recently seen coming from that way who is a friend of Wren's and he is believed to have been succoring Wren. A diligent search is being made. The murderer is probably profiting by both his own popularity in that region and the disfavor in which White, his victim, was held there.

She was confronted with a bill at the depot for some goods bought that morn-ing, and, after a parley, she paid R. Suspicions in reference to a fre that de-stroyed their residence are expressed.

TUCSON.

TUCSON, Oct. 4.—(Regular Correspondence.) Vincente Arenas shot and killed Guadalupe Mongio, his mistress, a day or two ago. The shooting was probably accidental, as Arenas claimed. It was a case of the old, old "didn't-know-it-was-loaded." A son of the woman had given Arenas a revolver and, having found some cartridges, asked him to try them in the weapon. Arenas was snapping the gun, preliminary to trying the cartridges. The woman came to the door, is the range of the gun, just as the usual stray load that so frequently occurs in unloaded pistols, came under the hammer. The shot took effect in her breast, killing her instantly. Arenas was discharged from custody. He and the woman have been living together for seven years. Bishop Bourgade expects to erect a handsome Catholic cathedral in Tucson early next year on the Cohoa property on Stone avenue.

The operahouse here is undergoing improvements. A gallery is being improvements. A gallery is being improvements. Moor is being laid and four sets of new scenery will laiso be added to the present equipment.

Mabel Stanley, the young American woman recently imprisoned in England for stealing jewelry, is well known in Tucson. When here she was supposed to be married to a man by the name of Jones, but with her sister she "slung beer" in Levin's garden. Both were good-looking girls and held down the variety boards in the garden. Both were good-looking girls and held down the surrounding camps. Money was plentiful and the girls rolled high. The new time-table of the Southern Pacific went into effect today. It makes some pronounced changes in schedule for Tucson. No. 19, the early morning train from the west, will arrive here at 9 o'clock, six hours later than heretofore, and will leave at 2:20 am., arriving at El Paso at 8:45 p.m.

Ex-Postmaster Corbett will leave Sunday morning for South Carolina, on an unusual mission. His little son, Hiram, has been suffering intensely with granulated eyelids and requires an operation. One eye has been operated on. The young man now positively refuses to undergo another operation, for which several attempts were made, kicking and biting savagely. His father's presence is required for the operation.

ANOTHER BICYCLE TRACK

ANOTHER BICYCLE TRACK.

The new quarter-mile track at Carrillo's Garden is about complete, and is yet new enough to be novel. Another track will soon be built that promises to be a strong rival. It will be at the Union Park, now owned by Charles de Groff. The surveys have just been made. The track will be one-third of a mile, the straight stretches on the two sides being 314½ feet each. At the turns the track will be banked five feet. There will be absolutely no grade, but it will be as nearly dead level as spirit levels can make it. After the grading of the track it will be covered with a two-inch coat of cement like that with which the ground in front of the San Xavier is paved. The cement is obtained at Pantano and twenty-five carloiads, ten cubic feet to the carload, will be required. For the purpose of sprinkling the track, a line of water pipe will be run around the inside of it, so that it will never be necessary for a horse's hoof or a wagon tire to, mar its almost glassy smoothness.

General satisfaction at the state of affairs there was expressed. The past quarter has been run at less The past quarter has been run at less expense than ever before in the history of the prison, being $2 cents per capita per day. An important change was decided on by the board. Heretofore electric lights and water have cost the institution $200 per month. A plant to pump the water and an electric-light piant will be put in, at a cost of $4500. The plants will be run by prison labor, and therefore cost nothing, outside of the first outlay. The cost of the plant will soon be saved, and continue indefinitely in operation.

FLAGSTAFF.

FLAGSTAFF, Oct. 4.—(Regular Cor-respondence.) Charley Green, the miss-ing, whose disappearance was a matter respondence.) Charley Green, the missing, whose disappearance was a matter of much solicitude a year ago—to the Sheriff—is home again, and in charge of the Sheriff. Over a year ago he became involved in some check operations and an embezzlement or two that got him into trouble. He had been arrested, and secured his release on a habeas corpus. Subsequently he was indicted. He forthwith decamped, and until today Flagstaff knew him no more. His return, however, it is asserted, is not wholly discreditable to himself. That prestige which money gives, Charley has, for in the year he has been away he has prospered. He is now a full-blown mining man, and, what is not always the case with that profession, he has a paying mine. Sheriff Cameron has been looking for Green for a long time, and had his descriptions placed with many officers throughout the country. It was last week that he first heard from his man. The Marshal of EI Paso wired that he had Green, and advised the Sheriff to come and get him. Sheriff Cameron started, going by way of Tucson, where Gov. Hughes resides, we secure the requisition. He got to EI Paso to learn to his chagrin that the only resemblance of the prisoner to the man wanted was that both were named Green. While killing time waiting for the next day's train, Cameron sauntred man wanted was that both were named Green. While killing time waiting for the next day's train, Cameron saun tred over to the hotel register. There he found a signature that interested him immensely. It was "Charles Green, Ilos Cabezas, Sonora." It was in the Flagstaff Charley's own flowing lines, which the Sheriff knew to perfection. Mr. Green was in bed, the officer learned, Cameron lost no time in getting an interview.

"Hello, Charley?" he said, for it was the right Green this time.
"You're just the man I'm looking for."
"The d——I, you say," replied Green.
"Well, here I am."

The prisoner soon displayed evidences of his prosperity. He had men of wealth and influence with him, and, furthermore, he had money of his own. The idea of a return to Flagstaff seemed distasteful to Green, and he began to talk of bonds. He hunted out one of his friends, a Mr. Harper, also of Dos Cabezas, and that gentleman wanted to furnish a cash bond on the spot. An indemnity bond was finally made out, and the Sheriff put this in his inside pocket. Charley he also took, but more like a traveling companion than a prisoner. Green made his money in Mexico. He once owned $5000 stock, in the Dos Cabezas mine. An expensive plant, and possibly through mismanagement also, resulted in a shut-down. About the time of his disappearance Green and others effected a reorganization. He then went East to other stockholders with a proposition to handle the ore. He and Superintendent Harper then began work, and Green has in sight profits of not less than $50,000. Therefore, though a nominal prisoner. Mr. Green is here considered a pretty good

LITTLE BY LITTLE.

BAGGED BURGLARS ARE CONFESSING THEIR GUILT.

Plunder Secured by Their Last Bur-glary Recovered by the Detec-tives—Long May Go Free—Apathy, of the San Francisco Officials.

The gang of burglars now in the County Jall through the energy and cleverness of Detectives Goodman, Bradish and Steele, are yielding up their cieverness of Detectives Goodman, Bra-dish and Steele, are yielding up their guilty secrets, little by little. They have confessed the last burglary committed by them, which occurred the night pre-ceding their arrest. The house robbed by them, which occurred the night preceding their arrest. The house robbed was on Orange street, and the plunder secured was a revolver, a gold locket and other jewelry. They buried the loot on a vacant lot on Jackson street, near their lodging place on Wilmington street. The detectives unearthed the stuff, and found it as described. The jewelry, however, had already been broken up and the handles of the revolver had been changed. They also confessed having thrown a package of stolen trinkets into a clump of weeds back of Chinatown, but the stuff could not be found, having evidently been discovered and carried away by some Chinaman, before-the detectives looked for it.

The publication of the correspondence carried on between the gang of burglars has caused the prisoners great uneasiness. Williams, whose true name by the way, is Charles, was especially discomfited. He said yesterday that he hoped that his poor old mother would not learn of the predicament he is in. It is rather late for Charles to worry himself about his mother's feelings, though, as he haz already served a term in the penitentiary. If he had any real considerations for his mother's feelings, he should have kept out of the burglary business.

The detectives are of the opinion that this gang perpetrated some of the post-office robberies reported lately. Among the plunder found in Lang's house in San Francisco was 400 one-cent stamps, not a great quantity, to be sure, but more than an honest electrician with a limited correspondence would be supposed to have in his possession at one time.

The chances for Lang to escape the penitentiary are said to be very good, notwithstanding his paipable guilt. It is doubtful whether he can be directly connected with any crimes committed in this county, and his conviction here, therefore, is very improbable. The San Francisco officers could, no doubt, make out a very strong case against him for receiving stolen goods, but they have as yet shown no inclination to prosecute him, in case he is released here.

The apathy shown by the San Francisco detectives in regard to the gang is a matter of comment. With the tell-tale evidence contained in the letters written by Lang and others they might have made a general round-up of crooks in that city, but it is not apparent that they have done so.

A significant fact is that statement in one of Lang's letters that when the "bulls" arrested Graham and Crowley in Sacramento, they were "thrown down for $50 and told to get." This looks as though somebody had taken hush money to let the burglars escape. The San Francisco detectives arrested Lang with great alacrity at the request of Chief Glass, but why do they not bag Crowley, Graham, McCauley and others who are undoubtedly part of the same gang of thieves? Lang's letters would indicate that he himself turned a trick or two in Sacramento. He undoubtedly deserves punishment as richly as any member of the gang. He undoubtedly deserves punishment as richly as any member of the gang, and it will be a travesty on justice if he is allowed to go free.

His Own Character-Beginning Place of Gospel-Only Chris-tians Can Bless Humanity.

A new denomination of Christians will soon be organized in this city. Dr. P. F. Bresse, for five years pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, but for the past year connected with the Peniel Mission on South Main street, will act with Dr. J. P. Widney, formerly president of the Southern California University, in the formation and organization of this proposed church. When 118 columns on September 29 to 111 columns on October 6. When Dr. Bresee left the Methodist Episcopal Secretary McCoy, who made that Church one year ago he gave as his reason for leaving that a wider field of $250 remark to a juror in the Durrant Church one year ago he gave as his reason for leaving that a wider field of usefulness was opened to him in the Peniel Mission work. It is said, however, by those in a position to know, that the doctor's attitude on various doctrinal questions, notably, the doctrine of sinless perfection, which he taught, was partly responsible for his "location," as the cessation of ministerial work is terined by this church. A large number of Christians, who sympathized with the doctrine taught by Dr. Bresee, gathered to his support, and for the past year have sustained him in his work at the Peniel Mission. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson are the owners of this mission, which occupies a large building of its own on South Main street. They have acted conjointly with Dr. Bresee in conducting this place of worship, but the relations between the parties have become so strained as to result in the withdrawal of Dr. Bresee, who, with several hundred of his supporters, proposes to organize an entirely new denomination. Friends of case, must feel that the mouth of him is as dangerous as an unloaded gun. The Liberty Bell has invaded the South, and is receiving an ovation. to result in the withdrawal of Dr. Bresee, who, with several hundred of his supporters, proposes to organize an entirely new denomination. Friends of the doctor claim that, while he was ostensibly in charge or joint charge of the mission he was excluded from the councils which controlled the movements of the workers, and, to use a current phrase, was "frozen out" of the big hall. The history of this Peniel Hall Mission is rather unique in some respects. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, who now have charge of the building, have been engaged in religious mission work in Los Angeles for nearly ten years. Before the erection of this building they occupled storerooms in various parts of the city which were used as meeting-blaces. Their rent was usually heavy and was sometimes paid with difficulty. About five years ago, however, the mission struck a bonanza in the person of G. B. Studd, an Englishman who possessed a religious bent of mind and about $40,000. He became a frequent visitor at the mission of Mrs. Ferguson and at length decided to donate his fortune to the furtherance of the work conducted by the Fergusons. The splendid quarters now occupied by the mission in the three-story brick building on Main are the result of Mr. Studd's determination. He has been an active worker at the mission since its inception and is a unique character in a religious way. Legislature together on the subject of doubtless rejoice when a good hard freezing spell of weather comes along.

The North Pole is still twiddling its tion and is a unique character in a re-ligious way.

It is this mission and these people that Dr. Bresee has left. No name has as yet been decided upon for the new organization which Dr. Bresee and Dr. Widney propose to found. It will, however, be congregational in its char-acter, and will aim to do much evan-gelistic work. I once heard a description of a man lost in the sandhills of Northern Nebraska. He had no landmarks to guide him, but was not totally lost until all food and water was exhausted. In the text the voice says "stand!" Wandering will do no good. Stand and get your bearings and then inquire of God for direction. He has set watchmen in the streets, servants who neveleave their posts, to point the way to God and heaven. We are to make diligent inquiry. We are to ask for the old paths. Anything new in religion is faise, and yet everything in salvation is marvelously new to him who finds it. The reformers have not led men into new paths, but back to old truths. Luther and Wesley preached no new truth or doctrine. The tendency of men and of light thinkers is to get away from the simplicity of the gospel. The tide sets strong toward worldliness. Wise men see it and raise their voices in protest. Bishop Foster says he is alarmed at its threatening attitude. We need the old ways. a sermon yesterday morning upon "The Revelation of the Tabernacle to Moses on the Mount," from the text: "Thou shalt rear up the tabernacle according to the fashion thereof which was shewed thee in the mount," Exodus xxvi, 30.

Civilization could not progress without ideals, dreams, mental pictures, visions. The leaders of the race ascend the mountain of thought, stand in the clouds of God's secrets, see the light of knowledge, and hear the thunder words of heaven's laws. Only those who consult God in His works and in the revelations of His spirit can direct the agencies and tendencies of our age to grand human victories. Each man has to build a tabernacle, or tent, for himself. That tent is his character. He now lives in his character, and in the will have to pass into the unseen world. The tabernacle which Moses built contained furniture—ark, testimony, mercy seat, cherubim, table, shewbread, candlestick. God's presence was in the tabernacle, if all its parts and furniture were made according to the Mosaic vision. It was a shrine morality and religion in all their per-fection. We have all made what char-acters we have. Do we feel at home in our characters? Have we the peace of God in them? Are we comfortable in these tabernacies that we have made? Is God in them? There is something dishonest, in the best of our characters, false, in the best of our characters? FIRST CHRISTIAN.

Rev. A. C. Smither preached upon the prophecy concerning the gospel as water, by Zechariah, xiv. 8-9. He set Rev. A. C. Smither preached upon the prophecy concerning the gospel as water, by Zechariah, xiv, 8-9. He set forth the fact that the gospel was to be preached first at Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost. This was also foretold and determined by Jesus. This was the natural beginning place of the gospel, since Jerusalem was the home and pride of the Jewish people. The miraculous displays attendant upon the beginning of the gospel dispensation amply attest the divine presence and approval of that event. As dispicted by the prophet, this water or fountain opened at Jerusalem was to flow in every direction, and bless many nations of people, and was not to be stayed in its onward progress by winter or summer, but was to go around perpetually.

The likeness of the gospel dispensation to water was then presented. Like water, it is beautiful in its various features. It is life-giving; all animal and vegetable life in the world being absolutely dependent upon it. It is refreshing, putting new life and vigor into decaying peoples. The recent history of Japan was a striking illustration of what the gospel and its civilization can accomplish for the race. Then the gospel is thirst-satisfying. It is the fountain of perpetual youth, for which the race has so long been recking. Furthermore, it removes the world's blackness and barrenness, and pakes it to blossom like a rose.

At this service a liberal offering was taken up for church extension.

At 3 o'clock in the aftermon the pastor, with a large number of his parishioners, went to Burbank, where he preached the dedicatory sermon for the new Christian church at that place. His sermon set forth the reasons for the existence of the Christian church. The service was very largely attended.

At 7:30 p.m., he lectured in his own church on "The Prodigal Son." illustrating his discourse by stereopticon views. The house was densely packed with people. This church is entering upon a very active campaign, and is expecting to hold, in the near future, a series of evangelist Romig.

AMERICAN BAPTIST. The morning hour was given to the children with their Harvest Home exercises. The church was beautifully and appropriately decorated, and the children prettily dressed. Prominent among those who were in charge were Mmes. J. F. Jackson, A. F. Stevens, Horton, and the Misses Dell and May Butterworth and Edna Tinker. The performance of the primary class under the direction of their young teacher, Miss Edna Tinker, was most pleasing. The little ones all did remarkably well both in their recitations and songs. Emma May Horton sang a solo, followed by a class exercise, "The Holy Bible;" Orra Burke recited, the primary class sang, Albert Estes and Pearl Cox gave recitations, a missionary exercise for children was led by Mrs. Jackson, and Marian Deane and Lewis Fixen recited.

The "Minute Guns" were read, consisting of reports from the various missionary pastors in Southern California under the direction of the Home Mission Society, of which work Rev. Mr. Tinker is superintendent in this section of the State. The report showed considerable progress in the work, and much encouragement among the pastors and their churches. There was a large crowd present. Rev. C. T. Douglass of Pasadena preached in the evening.

At the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon, the topic was "Prayer." Dr. Kate
C. Moody spoke most helpfully upon God's interest in each detail of our lives, He is not like a human friend. It is difficult for us to believe that He will kindly listen and help when we know we have been in the wrong. "Who forgiveth all thy inquities, who healeth all thy diseases," not some of them, but all. "My waya are not your ways." He says. We think too much of ourselves and our shortcomings; let us think more of God and His perfectness. There is no true prayer without confession.
This brings us into a right attitude before God.

SIMPSON TABERNACLE.

The morning service was largely attended yesterday to welcome Rev. C. C. McLean back to his third year's pastorate. The pastor chose as his subject, II Corinthians xii, 14-15. The speaker said, in beginning, that he would not preach a formal sermon, but would try and say something that would be helpful in the work of the year's work upon which they were entering. Paul went 'to the church at Corinth for the, third time, saying he came not to be a burden to them, but to help them to allay the dissensions which existed among them. I am coming for you, and not for your money. Jesus Christ expected every one to do something to help along with the burdens which the church lays upon its members. Paul went to the church at Corinth to prove that he was interested in their souls. So the true pastor should go to his appointment, not considering how much money there is in the salary, but how many souls there are for Christ.

The pastor referred to his call from the bishops to come to Simpson Tabernacle twenty-two months ago, and read the telegram from the board of bishops, saying: "We want you immediately to go to Simpson Tabernacle twenty-two months ago, and read the telegram from the board of bishops, saying: "We want you immediately to go to Simpson Tabernacle, Los Angeles; difficult work, but not too hard for you. Salary only 31509 first year." Signed E. G. Andrews. The answer sent was that I could go in six weeks. And the proposition was accepted, and thus I came to you and began the great work which confronted us all. He spoke feelingly of his reception by the remnant of the Simpson congregation, and at the preachers' meeting, where he was informed he had come to a hopeless task.

"But times and circumstances have changed. Success has come to us in a certain measure, and people are ready to congratulate us upon the prospects and prosperity of the church. You have been hogical in your support of the church and the pastor; because you have been logical in your support of the church and the pastor;

EAST LOS ANGELES BAPTIST.

Rev. George E. Dye, pastor of the East Los Angeles Baptist Church, preached the first of a series of sermons on "The Word of God" last Sunday morning, from the text, "From a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation."

thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto selvation."

The name of Timothy was rescued from oblivion by his familiarity with the word of God. He was not noted for eloquence, for heroism, for genius. He amassed no fortune, led no army, and yet his mame has become a household word. The secret of his honorable fame is hinted at in the text. His grandmother and mother imbibed a love for scriptures and passed the same down to Timothy. The scriptures are able to make men wise today. Daniel Webster said that "if there was anything in his style of thought the credit was due to his kind parents, who taught him to lisp the sacred writings." Thomas Jefferson and Lincoln said much the same thing. The one great source of human greatness is attributed by many noble men to the reading of the scriptures. Moses, Joshus, David, Peter, Bunyan, Spurgeon and Moody rose to eminence through the power of the word of God.

One of the best ways to know the scriptures is to thoroughly memorize them. The Waldenses preserved the word when beset by foes, much as the Armenians are persecuted by the Turks today, by setting the young people to commit the Bible so that they could repeat it from Genesis to Revelation. A season of persecution would strengthen the church today, but in this age of broad toleration it is hardly likely to come.

If we can remember things of the world in which we are interested we can remember God's word. When you hear the world take care that Satan is kept out of the heart. The apostle says that we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip.

were given the hand of fellowship after the service.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST.

At the First Universalist Church yesterday Rev. A. A. Rice gave the third discourse of a series on "Christianity in Practice," the particular subject being "Christianity Applied to the World." He said: "Christianity, whatever else it may indorse in the way of formall worship and bellef, does primarily mean the realization of righteousness between man and man. The doctrine of the brotherhood of man is, at least tacity, the universally-accepted meaning of the Christian religion, and the all-absorbing and important question among thoughtful men is, can this doctrine be applied to the alleviation of the distress found in the world today? Various noted authorities disagree in answering this question, but our view is that the ethics of Jesus were intended for this world, and since they have their root in love, which is only another name for self-sacrifice, they are especially and naturally adapted to the eradication of selfishness, the cause of the bulk of human woe. No curse ever disappeared from the earth except through sacrifice, which banishes all curse. That the law of brotherly love can be applied in all departments of life is evidenced in the fact that Dr. Parkhurst has made the application to the 'social evil' in New York city, and that even now Theodore Roosevelt, in the same place, is enforcing the law of right-in the Sunday closing of saloons against the law of selfish greed which has so long defied that law. Even Father Throop, who founded the University at Pasadena, showed how one could be wealthy and still obey the law of Christ. The old pharasalc spirit which has so long predominated the so-called Christian world, which says ohly the few elect are to be associated with, can never lessen the world's misery. The spirit of avarice which makes a man steal millions of money from the ohly the few elect are to be associated with, can never lessen the world's misery. The spirit of avarice which makes a man steal millions of money from the homes of the poor and give but a fraction thereof to found some charitable institution, can never lift the burden of wretchedness from our land. Only Christ's truth in its purity and in its entirety can abundantly bless humanity. The millennium shall appear when men, either in the church or outside, are set affame by this Christian truth to burn out the plague spots of earth.

"The home-nissionary problem is to make the Bibla and its doctrines the enduring heritage of all Americans and the assurances of its security and continued prosperity.

"The solution of the problem has changed, not in spirit and purpose, but in the attitude of the society toward the churches and the people. The Home Missionary Society no longer poses as a charitable organization, its missionaries are not paupers. The Chinaman Stopped Gambling.

The average Chinaman, it is generally admitted, has little respect for the law of the country, except where he is made to feel the hand of the law. Possibly this lack of respect is in some degree due to what he sees in the actions of Americans. A case in which a wholesome lesson to the contrary was taught has come to light. One of the Mongolian residents of Chinatown offered the policeman who was then on the beat a sum of money if he would, when coming year his (the Chinaman's place) not go in. The offer was refused, as was also an offer of certain articles of value. The officer told the Chinaman he would go into his place the same as any other to see that no gambling was being done. Some time later the Chinaman said to the officer that if he could get a job he would stop gambling. The officer secured employment for him and he has been working for a month or more. Poor Chance to Practice.

The police department is considerably handicapped by the lack of facilities for target practice. When a policeman has to shoot his revolver while on duty he is expected to do it in a hurry, and at the same time accurately. There is no place for practice except on the outskirts of town. The officers have to furnish their ammunition, and, under the circumstances, there is not much encouragement to practice. They go as delegates from the Bay conference.

From Prescott, Ariz., comes the re-port that even the buildings are in part of gold. An assertion of this sort was made in reference to the sandstone of which a new building is composed. The assertion was laughed at, but an assay was made and it developed the fact that the stone contained $4 per ton in gold and 20 cents in silver.

Orange county farmers, finding little money in barley, think seriously of turning to the cultivation of beans. The everlasting glory of California is the promptness with which her farmers act when the production of anything ceases to be remunerative. The world is evidently progressing in the matter of unique and original entertainment, but the scheme of having a man stand with his head through a man stand with his head through a hole in a canvas wall while a crowd amuses itself by pelting him with overripe eggs is beyond anything that has been devised of late to supply merriment to the throng. The chief wonder is, though, that the eggs all flew wide of the mark, for the aim of the average American boy is a thing safe to bet upon.

The suggestion is offered to a Pasa dena water company that it would be a good scheme to put a smooth, flat root over a big reservoir and use the surface thus afforded for a bleycle track. Such a cyclery as that might at the proper time by a sudden plunge downward eas ily become an iciclery. As it would require a good many "scorchers" to warm up half a million barrels of Lake Vineyard water, it would be necessary to have the underpinning of this toof gar-den considerably more substantial than that possessed by some of the wheelme

In view of the hold-ups that are going on in California so frequently, it is re-freshing to read of a young physician in Washington, D. C., who, ashington, D. Seizing a magazine rifle the determined doctor sought the intruder. He pumped two rounds of lead into the villain. As one bullet fortunately mode a hole through the brain, the burglar

The short-sighted policy which induced the suburban citizens to refuse annexation with the city may be more apparent to these social economists who now prefer to paddle their own cance, when some of the advantages which have been hitherto extended through the courtesy of the city officials to the outlying settlements, are withdrawn. The need of police protection and of the ald of the fire department is greater in thinly-settled districts than in many places within the city limits, but these departments are not obliged to extend their protection a foot beyond the boundary line, and in all probability, will now leave the suburbs to shift for themselves, since they are not willing to bear their share of the taxation necessary to secure the existence of such protection.

Although corporations are presumed to represent the business ideas and capital of the different stockholders, the influence of individual stockholders, through the ambition and greed of corporation officials, has been almost destroyed within the last few years. Carelegeness is the main cause of this state of affairs. The unhappy effect of lackadaisical in-difference among stockholders has been the manipulation of proxies in many corporations and the perpetuation thereby of old or the creation of new forms of corruption. In the case of an-nual elections, especially, proxies should not be given to another person to use, except after a full investigation and a thorough understanding of the prob-able results. The Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company's last annual election is a case in point.

leaded by a squad of police and and, and with its magnificent banner band, and with its magnificent banner flaunting to the breeze, the Journeymen Butchers' Protective and Benevolent Association, 150 strong, marched to Agricultural Park yesterday morning prepared to celebrate in full abandon, its regular annual picnic and barbecue. The butcher, in all his varied forms, was out for a time and, to a remarkable extent, was "in it." Fully two thousand people assisted them to make the occasion a howling success at the park.

Upon the arrival of the association at the park, the barbecue opened. Four choice oxen, roasted to a beautiful brown, were cut into convenient chunks brown, were cut into convenient chunks for the butcher and the members of his family, large and small, and distributed with generous pieces of bread. There was liquid refreshment, also something exhilirating, but not intoxicating for little Mary and John and something (else) for the grown-up boys and girls. When the barbecue was ended, wonderful and unique spectacles claimed the attention—with 10 cents—of each one in the crowd. There was the only original Funch and Judy show, all by itself, and in another tent were the man-eating shark, the monkey barber, the Caucasian beauty, the Roman wisard and the performing birds. It was delightfully suggestive of the Midway Plaisance and, altogether entertaining and satisfactory. The stiffening in the Caucasian beauty's pompador hair run down onto her scalp in the afternoon heat, occasioning a dismal limpness in the carefully executed work of art, but no one for an instant dared to insinuate that the "South of Market" part of San Francisco had been the home of her earliest infancy. In close proximity to these thrilling and wonderful features of the "Midway," a representative of the race for whom the civil war was waged, and bearing the name William Garrison Wendell Phillips Pottawattamie Smith, thrust his head through a hole in a suspended canvas, and a gentleman with an "electric diamond" shirt stud and a husky voice, informed the crowd that two chances to rotten-egg the gentleman with the brunette face would be sold for 5 cents. The crowd bought chances and howled and perspired and got red in the face, individually and collectively, and Mr. Smith lingered and lingered, unharmed and un-egged, until the lengthening shades of evening resembled very closely his face. Then, with a broad grin, he silently ambied his way across the commons to his humble cot; leaving the crowd throwing rotten eggs at the hole in the canvas.

The last on the list of side-show attractions was the muscle-testing machine. Big men and little men tried it. It was very, very genuine. The number of pounds you struck were registered for you when you pounded on the iron-plate with the big mail. SHOULD BE ANNEXED. Chief Glass Thinks Suburbanites Made a Mistake.

Probably no one was more surprised at the failure of the southwestern scheme than Chief of Police Glass. He was especially astonished at the vote in the Harper tract. The many fine residences in that section have been the especial prey of burglars, and many is the time that detectives and mouved. resuences in that section have been the especial prey of burglars, and many is the time that detectives and mounted officers have been sent there at the request of citizens to afford protection. In speaking about this phase of the matter, after the election, Chief Glass said since the people outside of the city have shown by their votes that they are not willing to help pay the cost of police protection, he has resolved not to afford them any more. His officers have instructions to confine their labors to operations inside the city limits. If, persons living on the outside want the services of officers they must appeal to the Sheriff or constables. It is much easier to find a policeman after nightfall than a deputy sheriff or a constable, so residents outside the city limits may be put to a great deal of inconvenience on account of the instructions of the police not to heed calls from the outside.

In the matter of fire protection, too, Chief Glass thinks the suburban residents have shown very poor judgment, in as much as the fire department need not go outside the corporate limits to put out a blaze. He said he had an illustration of this a few weeks ago, while visiting his friend, Dr. Fisher, at San Jose. Dr. Fisher lives just outside the city limits of the Garden City, and while Chief Glass was his guest, a planing mill close by burned down, and the fire department of the city never turned a wheel in an attempt to save the property. Chief Glass was assonished at this, but on inquiry he learned that the mill was outside the city limits, and consequently the fire department would not respond. Chief Glass thinks the suburbanites here will find themselves in the same predicament in case of fire. is the time that detectives and mounted Abbott B. Clark of San Francisco lectured last evening at Royal Bakery Hall. The subject was "Spiritualism, Hypnotism, Science Healing," etc. The phenomena of spiritual seances, Mr. Clark explained, were thoughts and actions reproduced through the medium on the astral plane; mediums being porous to this realm of nature. Mesmertsm was known to the ancients, and is now being revived. Hypnotism is a detronement of the individuality of man, leaving him negative to the will of the hypnotist. SOUTHERN PACIFIC CONSTRUC-TION FOREMAN'S DILEMMA.

Switch Keys and Fifty Dollars Which He Had Placed Under His

Ed Smith, a construction foreman on the Southern Pacific's Pasadena line, came to the city yesterday, and with a few convival friends "hir" the flowing bowl at a Commercial-street restaurant bowl at a Commercial-street restaurant where drink was sold along with edibles. Smith soon found himself growing grogsy, and as he did not wish to make a spectacle of himself by falling under the table, he managed to slip away from his friends and went to a neighboring lodging-house, where he procured a bed to lie upon while the effects of the liquor he had drank were passing off. Before lying down he placed his purse containing $50 in gold and three switch keys under the pillow. It was 4 o'clock when he went to bed and 7 o'clock when he got up. Instead of having fully recovered from his spree, as he had expected, he was still quite drunk. In a half-dazed condition he left the room and found his way to the street, and presently met some friends, with whom he was going away, when he suddenly remembered he had left his purse under the pillow. He went back to recover it, but could not remember the house where he had slept. He had a key to the room in his pocket, but at every lodging-house where he presented it, the proprietor denied that the key belonged there or that Smith had been there before at all. After searching in vain for his lodging-house, Smith reported his dilemma to the police, and an officer was detailed to help him find the place, but all to no purpose. The search had to be given up, as Smith could not describe the place.

Smith was very much cut up over his loss. He said he would not care for the loss of the money if he could recover his switch keys, as he could not go to work in the morning without them. He feared trouble with the company unless he found the keys before morning. At a late hour last night he was still continuing the search, with no prospects of success.

A friend of the unlucky foreman said he had been in the employ of the Southwhere drink was sold along with ed

BRIBERY CHARGED

A Chinaman Makes a Complaint

A good deal of interest was excited in police circles by the report of a China-man who gave his name as Ah Wong going to President Teed of the City Council and saying that the police offi-cer wearing star No. 52 was collecting 44 per month from each of a number of Chinamen who were permitted to en gage in playing fan-tan at No. 311 Mar hessault street.

The statement of the Chinaman wa promptly reported to Chief Glass and the matter was investigated. As near as could be learned from the investiga-tion, the Mongolian making the com-plaint is of the highbinder class and is not in good repute with the better class of Chinese merchants.

of Chinese merchants.

The policeman wearing the star of the number in question, who is Officer Dixon, was called before the Chief and denied the charge.

Another circumstance which tends to disprove the charge made is that it is said little or no attempt at playing fantan or kindred games has for a year or more past been made in the neghborhood of the address given. The place is near the Plaze side of Chinatown, while the attempts at that kind of gambling have been mostly east of Alameda street.

THE NEW WOMAN. This idea of the "new woman" is but a fad. Thank God! it will die a natural-death. It ought to die a horrible death. It is contrary to the laws of nature and womanhood. The proper sphere will again come to woman.—(Rev. A. W. Holder, Baptist, New York city.

MISSION OF THE CHURCH. The mission of the church is, in the first place, to save men. Christ taught man the perfect way of life. It would be difficult to prevent a man who is saved himself from saving others. A man must show in his own person the power of God to save.—(Rev. G. W. Lee, Baptist, Philadelphia, Pa.

DOGMA. The real meaning of dogma is little understood nowadays. What Christ Himself says through inspired writers is not dogma. What man says only can be fairly regarded as such. Every person should know exactly what he believes in religious matters, and then, if sure he is right, stick to !t.— (Rev. Dr. Hopkins, Presbyterian, Lock-DEATH. The man of millions suffers DEATH. The man of millions suffers pain, sickness, death as surely as the poorest—and there is no satisfaction in a rich man's dying.. The saddest death I ever saw was of a wealthy man. What an expression of sorrow he gave at leaving this earth. Sickness and probable death vanish all the material and visionary joys.—(Rev. T. H. Hogerty, Methodist, Louisville, Ky.

THE IDEAL MAN. Christ is the example for humanity, the one and only perfect man. He is the perfect ideal of every pure soul. Every human being has some ideal, and the nature of the ideal will determine the human being has deal will determine the character. The tendency of human nature is constantly downward, and the only hope for a lost world is a perfect moral ideal.—(Rev. W. G. Partridge, Baptist, Scranton, Pa.

MONEY-MAKING. Financial succes MONEY-MAKING. Financial success is often a slippery place. How many a man grows poorer in heart, while he grows richer in gold. There are many whose wealth stands for integrity, moral excellence, social excellence. But the fever of money-making is danger-ous-the conflict between money-making and morality. Anything is right that succeeds. What follows is known too well, has been seen too frequently.—(Rev. George Cooper, Baptist, Richmond, Va.

CONFESSION. Confession has been and is a great blessing to society. It is the only means by which certain crimes can be stopped. Many a maiden and young man, already dangerously near the precipice, have been saved from a deplorable fall by the timely use of confession, and many who had unfortunately fallen were held up on their slippery path by this same remedy.—(Rev. Father Welbers, Catholic, Richmond, Va.

SIN IS SUICIDAL. The mission of religion is not to save people from hell, but to save them from their sins. All guilt is suicidal. Sin is its own wcrst punishment, for it involves the death of all that is noblest and of greatest wcrth in life. The choice of sin is the soul's judgment against itself—the deliberate choosing of the darkness rather than the light—(Rev. Dr. Hudson, Unitarian, Sait Lake City, Utah.

RELIGIOUS SECTS. There is an irresistible tendency in the religious world to divide into sects. This is natural, and, on the whole, good. It is right and natural enough that there should be differences of opinion as to the doctrines of theology. But let us remember that the theological doctrines are not the most important things, not the fundamental things. The foundation is Christ in the life, truth and right-cousness and love in the life of the individual.—(Rev. F. Q. Hall, Universalist, Cambridge, Mass.

EDUCATION. The first principle of education is to develop the man himself, heart, mind and body, and put his powers to their use. Education is to enlarge the soul. It is to teach us how to live, it is to give us the great facts of life, and shows us the true principle of life, and open to us the true goal of life. A complete education is something more than an accomplishment. It fits for actual life.—(Rev. John Barbour, Presbyterian, Birmingham, Ala.

A. Hunsberger, Methodist, Milwaukee, Wls.

COLLEGE EVILS. Some of the most damnable influences of today come from our universities. Educate men to fit them for greater tasks to help the world: not to go out to be helped to official fat jobs because they are college bred. We find tramps speaking five languages and hordes of unfortunate office-seekers, many of whom speak of their alma maters. We have gained in numbers, but what are numbers. China can beat us in that respect forever. Let us have fewer and better men. Shut up the colleges that do not send us back better men.—(Rev. Dr. Kilgo, Methodist, Raleigh, N. C.

EVIL COMPANIONS. The company that man keeps determines his character. No man does undertake the religious life with honesty and earnestness without separating from evil associations. He draws off to the good, and the evil as naturally draws away from him. If evil asociates of the past are near to him, they are no longer in sympathy with him; not because of his sanctimoniousness but because there is something in the man on account of which they do not longer enjoy his society as they once did. The more earnestly he devotes himself to his God the more they draw away from him.—(Rev. J. L. Withrow, Presbyterian, Chicago, Ill.

MATERIALISM. Each century has some distinctive mark. That of this century is invention. Everything is given over to the pursuit of material things. What time does he have to answer to the demands of his higher nature? I do not fear the materialism of philosophy. but that of daily life. There is more danger to the country in the Patent Office in Washington than in all the colleges and universities given to materialism throughout the land.—(Rev. F. W. LABOR AND THE CHURCH. Christ healed the sick of the laboring classes, cast out their devils, cured their fevers bade away their leprostes and palsies, restored their lost and raised their dead. Since the time of Christ every kind of favorable manifestation of his gospel to the laboring classes has been on the increase. That gospel would by now have filled the whole carth with its manifestations in the laborer's behalf, but for the obstructions that have been cast in its way. These hindrances are the reason these classes have not long since reached their enfranchisement. Peter surmounted such obstacles; so did Luther and Wesley; so must we.—(Rev. THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION. The projectors and promoters of our exposition have been moved by no narrow and ignoble spirit. They have stimulated Atlanta to do a great thing, not only for their own advancement and glory, but for the promotion of the whole country and the whole world. They have summoned every State of this republic and every nationality of this hemisphere to send here for exhibition the best achievements of her inventors, sculpturers, artificers, artisans, poets, orators, architects, painters and musicians, that we may see the splendid triumphs of human intellect and energy, and that the whole world may be stimulated to quicken its step in the pathway of progress.—(Rev. Dr. Hawthorn, Baptist, Atlanta, Ga.

CIVIL SERVICE. A little taste we've had of civil service in municipal affairs, but whether a benefit or not, who can tell? God knows there is need for civil service. I want it understood I am in favor of examinations and promotions on merit, but can we work it? Has not the human element played havoc already. If we could eliminate politics. But you can't do it. Politics is here, and to stay, and has a right to stay, so in spite of all protestations to the contrary, the ward politician has an advantage yet, and if care is not exercised the biggest political machine ever seen will grow up under the protection of this law—(Rev. PERSONAL LIBERTY. Even if men are at liberty to make, sell and use intoxicating beverages according to the law of the land, they are not in the law of God. This law refers to all men, for what is their duty to God is also their duty to society. Every one in the State must accept this higher law, or else he is not a good citizen. Men have no right to place temptations which lead to drunkenness, and especially upon Sunday, as it is a day of rest. It would be infinitely better that the New England blue laws were now in vogue, for with all their severity it would be preferable to the opening of the saloons on Sunday.—(Rev. L. M. S. Haynes, Baptist, Troy, N. Y. PERSONAL LIBERTY. Even if me

GOOD AND EVIL. God does not hate evil men. He hates the evil that is destroying men. I cannot conceive Christ standing in the midst of this city and favoring one of the evils of the city and failing to aid one of its good. Everything good in it would receive His blessing. Everything evil in it would receive His rebuke. And I cannot conceive how God can look over this world of ours and have His sympathies bound to any one spot in it—looking out for the home life, the home congregation, the home city, the home nation. I believe that if He were here, living wholly and fully and completely in our American life, that the Indian, the negro and the degraded ones in our cities would all come unto His sympathies, into His help, and receive His benediction.—(Rev. Dr. Egbert, St. Paul, Minn.

FUNERALS. There is a movement chan an accomplishment. It fits for actual life.—(Rev. John Barbourt, Presbyterian, Birmingham, Ala.

MORAL PARALYSIS. There is such a thing as moral paralysis. The spiritual self becomes practically dead. The doctrine of natural depravity holds. It is not that men have not good in them, but that they are inclined naturally to be wicked. We see in the world men and worsen who allow their selfish, desires to control their whole nature. They are ill-tempered, unjust and envious. These are the natures that corrupt the world. These are the persons that suffer from moral paralysis.—(Bishop E. G. Andrews, Methodist, New York city.

AUTHORITY OF JESUS. His authority was that of the truth itself. It applied to the human heart. It satisfied the needs of men who were weary of ritual and dogma. It answered the cry of hearts whose experiences had made them feel desolate and outcast in the world. It had the authority of deep experience. The method of the division is the same for all of us—through the soul. The way to the depest truth of the eternal must be trodden with bleeding feet.—(Rev. M. D. Shutter, Minneapolis, Minn.

SOCIETY LIARS. The masses are disposed toward the belief that lies can make one rich, give one position in society, cover up irregularities which would otherwise bring him into distress. Men look about them and see these things helping to positions of preferment, positions secured by false-boods, And so there is a growing disposition on the part of the young to sonal matter. Funerals show the necessity and value of religion in times of bereavement and sorrow.—(Rev. J. D. Sands, Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, Pa. THE RIGHTS OF WOMEN. Should a woman be a minister? Yes, if she can preach a helpful sermon and can put up with the wear and tear of a minister's life. Should a woman be a physician? Yes, if she has the skill necessary to diagnose a case and the constitution to stand the life. Should a woman be a lawyer? Yes, if she has prepared herself, and can plead a case successfully and can live the life of a lawyer. Should a woman be a sonal No, never! Should a woman be a woman? Yes. Not because she is a woman. The right to vote is not inborn. It is the gift of our government. Women pay taxes, and for that reason they should vote, and not because they are women.—(Rev. H. C. Peepels, Baptist, Rochesthat man keeps determines his character. No man does undertake the religious life with honesty and earnestness without separating from evil associations. He draws off to the good, and he evil as naturally draws away from him. If evil asociates of the past are near to him, they are no longer in sympathy with him; not because of his sanctimoniousness but because there is something in the man on account of which they do not longer enjoy his society as they once did. The more earnestly he devotes himself to his God the more they draw away from him.—(Rev. J. L. Withrow, Presbyterian, Chicago, Ill.

CHARACTER. A man's character must be founded upon truth, and he must have God's word engrafted on his heart. No matter how devoted he may be in other respects, if he is wanting in truth, disaster awaits him. How is his character to be formed? By hating in your weakness at the feet of Jesus and getting strength that only the can impart, and by attending every day to the work of personal salvation, if you are trying to do your part for the world's civilization and evangelization you are doing God's work.—(Rev. Felix R. Hill, Methodist, Kansas City, Mo.

And that ought to be enough in itself to seal the doom of bar soap. This rubbing with soap may get clothes clean, if you work hard enough, but can't you see how it wears them out?

Since the last report three headstones have been added to the silent bivouac on the hill. James K. Royce, late Co. S. First Regiment, New York Sharpshooters, died September 19. aged 63 years. Deceased was admitted to the home from Wallace, Idaho, in May of the present year, and died of hepatitis.

Jared Seward, late Co. D. First Battalion, California Mountain Infanitry, died October 1, of cerebral apoplexy, aged 12 years. He was admitted to the home from Tehachepl July M. 1894.

John D. Taylor, late Co. F. First Louisiana Infanitry, Mexican war, died October 5, of old age and exhaustion, aged 74 years. Deceased entered this home from Orange, March 20, 1891.

At roll-call this morning 1834 men answered present, with 354 absentees, making a total of 1688.

William Woods has been appointed dining-hall sergeant, the official title being mess-hall sergeant, with rank of first lieutenant, vice E. B. Balley, respecting to return about Tuesday. Gov, and Mrs. Rowland took the excursion for Santa Barbara on Saturday, expecting to return about Tuesday. Mrs. Rowland and Miss Anga contemplate an early departure for a visit at the old home in Quincy, III.

Rather elaborate preparations are making for the benefit of Annie Elzer, to be given October 18. Miss Annie is a prime favorite in the home, being always ready and willing to contribute generously to local entertainments, or anything else that enhances the pleasure and comfort of the members. PASADENA, Oct. 6.—(Regular Correspondence.) The first event of the social season at the Throop Polytechnic was the pleasant reception given Friday night by the Adelphian Society to its members and friends and to members night by the Adelphian Society to its members and frierids and to members of the faculty. An enjoyable musical programme was furnished by the Throop orchestra, Miss Sterrett, Miss Waite, Miss Cook and Miss Green. The address of welcome was rendered by R. Sterrett, who, in a few well chosen words extended the greeting of the institution to the new students. The response was appropriately made by L. Lockhart. At the conclusion of the programme Prof. Keyes was called upon and complimented the society on the brilliant prospects for its future. This concluded the formal part of the programme, and the rest of the evening was given over to social enjoyment. Miss Grace Monroe gracefully presided over the punch-bowl, and Miss Lyda Conger, who received the guests, showed themselves charming hoatesses.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

There will be no Council meeting on Monday, as the regular meeting has been postponed on account of Labor day, until Tuesday afternoon. At that time several important matters will come up for consideration, among them that of advertising the sale of the franchise asked for by Prof. T. S. C. Lowe. Every indication points to the willingness of the Council to advertise the franchise, and the prediction is freely made that more dollars will fall to the city treasury through the sale of that franchise than have ever been given for a similar privilege. It is not at all unlikely that there will be several competitors in the field, and at the last moment a "dark horse" may gallop away with the coveted privileges. It is well known that a Los Angeles party, who claims to be backed by large capital, has been anxious to secure a franchise for an electric road in Pasadena.

A sensible suggestion is that made by PASADENA BREVITIES.

A sensible suggestion is that made by citizen, who calls attention to the a citizen, who calls attention to the fact that many of the poles of the telephone company are set so that they are directly in front of residences, obscuring the view of the roadway, and creating a needless nuisance. There is no reason why the poles should not be set on the property lines, and it should be insisted on in the future, and especially that trolley poles should be so set. It is bad enough to have the streets disfigured with poles, but if it must be so, why not, so far as possible, consult the tomfort of property owners, and set them where they will be the least objectionable.

The work which the Pasadena Fruit.

The work which the Pasadena Fruit-growers' Association has done in the last year has been greatly appreciated by local growers. The season is now fairly ended, and everything its in perfect shape for the annual meeting, which will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Recorder Rossiter's courtroom in the Ward Block. It will be an interesting and important gathering, and a full report of the year's work will be read, and it is not improbable that a forecast may be made of what the association expects to do in the future.

The Board of Education contemplates The Board of Education contemplates the purchase of a piece of property adjoining the Lincoln school, that the grounds may be enlarged, then the proposed opening of Wooster avenue will meet with no objection. The petition has been largely signed, and will be presented to the Trustees at the next meeting of the City Council. It is not likely that the opening will be accomplished until the additional purchase has been consummated.

The entertainment given at the Universalist Church Friday evening under versanst Church Friday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' League was a social and financial success and was largely attended. A programme con-sisting of a reading by Mrs. Stuart, a dialect rendition, "Is the Pen Mightler Than Powder?" by Rev. W. M. Jones; a violin solo by Miss Sutton and sev-eral amusing tableaux from "Puck" was rendered after the serving of re-freshments.

was rendered after the serving of refreshments.

The Villa-street reservoir is being filled, after its thorough cleaning, but it will be a long time before it will hold against 21,000,000 of water. It has been suggested that the directors of the water company could make a handsome income by covering over the Villastreet reservoir, using proper means of ventilation, and then utilize the flat roof of the great basin as a bicycle speeding track.

The reception given by Mr. Kuranaga, the genial Japanese merchant, at his store Saturday evening was a great success. The apartments were crowded during the evening, many prominent citizens being present. The decorations were unique and beautiful, and four young ladies in Japanese costumes pregided over the refreshments.

The North Congregational Church is contemplating building a new edifice at an early date, to accommodate its rapidly growing congregation. The improvement of the Presbyterian Church property is progressing, and the Methodists are actively at work securing funds for the erection of a costly church.

Harry Nolan, the dish-washer at the Hotel Mitchell, who was arrested Thursday night charged with a crime against nature, was arraigned in Recorder Rossiter's court on Saturday and held over in $5000 bonds. The case was peculiarly aggravated. Not being able to secure bonds, Nolan was taken to dail.

Mrs. M. M. Cole and daughter, who have been abroad for some months, have returned to Pasadena, and are at their home on Pasadena ave.

M. F. Marsh and his bride, nee Miss Grace Breedon, of St. Paul, Minn., have located in Pasadena on North Fair Oaks avenue.

ORANGE COUNTY.

Stockholders' Meeting of the S.
A. V. I. Company—News Notes and Personals.

SANTA ANA. Oct. $,—(Regular Correspondence.) The low price obtained for barley during the past few months has put a good many Orange county farmers to thinking of other crops that they might raise more profitably than has been possible for them in the case of barley, the past year or two. The crop this year in Orange county was fairly good, but the present price, 40 to 45 cents a 100 pounds, will, so the farmers say, not pay the actual cost of producing it.

This being the case, the soll-tillers hereabouts are not very anxious to go very deeply into the raising of barley another year, unless the price takes an upward turn very soon.

One large rancher, W. B. Griffiths of Fairview, who has just finished harvesting and threshing about five thousand acres of grain, informed the Times correspondent, a few days ago, that unless he could very soon dispose of at least a part of the 50,000 sacks he now has stored at an advance over present prices, he would not put in so large a crop next year as he had the past year. During the conversation Mr. Griffiths said that he intended next spring to experiment in the cultivation of beans for the market in this valley. Mr. Griffiths was formerly a resident of Ventura county, and lived in the bean section. He was a large grower there, and therefore has had experience that will be worth a great deal to him here in bean-culture. He says he believes there are thousands of acres of land in the Santa Ana Valley that are adapted to the culture of the bean, and that all parts of the Ventura Valley are just as good, and he expresses it as his opinion that, as the price of barley is so low that there is no money in grain for the farmer nowadays, the oultivation of beans would be advisable. As an experiment, he will plant three or. four hundred acres in the spring on land near Fairview, and on the San Joaquin ranch, and if he is successful, he will probably plant thousands, instead of hundreds, of acres next year. and appear thereby to their best advantage.

The new kitchen is inclosed. It is a roomy and substantial structure.

Yesterday's San Francisco Call enswers a correspondent to this effect:

"Soldiers' Home.—P. B., St. Paul. Soldiers or sailors of the United States, whose pensions exceed 116 per month, are not eligible to the branch of the Soldiers' National Home at Santa Monica, in this State, unless the reasons are peculiar, and are explained to the satisfaction of the manager. A soldier who is receiving a pension of $17, desiring to enter the home, should write to the manager, giving a full history of his case and reasons for applying for admission."

always ready and willing to contribute generously to local entertainments, or anything else that enhances the pleas-ure and comfort of the members.

The pampas tufts along the walk to-ward headquarters are now in full bloom, and create a very pretty effect. They have ample room without the ap-pearance of crowding or being crowded, and appear thereby to their best advan-tage.

It would have been well if the paper had added that this home is just now full to overflowing, and pension or no pension, St. Paul veterans would probably fare better to inquire for admission to one of the branches nearer their own

He sowed it in January to barley and alfalfa. He cut the barley, which averaged three tons to the acre, and since that cutting he has harvested five crops of alfalfa, which averaged 1½ tons per acre for each cutting.

Tuseday. Owners of water-stocked land, and agents and renters of the same property, perhaps, had each, in some instances, given out proxies to friends of the candidates for the directorship without reserve, and they were voted at the election without any compunction apparently on the part of the proxyholder.

Some of them were voted unintentionally, but others were not. But they were voted, and, when the ballots were counted, the people had been misrepresented to the extent of over six thousand votes, as was afterward ascertained by the committee of talismen, who went carefully sover the proxies, throwing out the duplicates and correcting such errors as came to their Lottice.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 6.—(Regular Correspondence.) When the wise Solomon said there was nothing new under the sun he falled to look far enough into the future to see what a enough into the future to see what a San Bernardino lad would evolve in the way of alarm clocks. It has been the custom to secure an alarm that would fire one volley with every loading, and then it was not always sure fire at the time appointed. It would either miss entirely or go off at the wrong time to entirely or go off at the wrong time to the disgust of the sleeper, and perhaps fail to awaken him sufficiently. This new patent on alarm clocks, granted a few days ago, will fire two volleys at an interval under control from a few minutes to an hour and a half in length. If it is an eight-day or a thirty-day clock, and it is desired to have a permanent daily alarm, with one winding and setting of the discs, the alarm will be set going every twenty-four hours for the whole eight days or thirty days, according to the make of the clock. It can be arranged to have one alarm, either the first or last, a heavy one, and the other light. The inventor is E. E. Katz, one of the young business men of the city.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS. There has been considerable fault found with the Board of Trustees in regard to their manner of conducting the park improvements, but that body has been too much handicapped with lack of funds to make as much progress as was desired. The force will be set to work tomorrow plowing under the dried grass, and then the grading will be completed and the eastern half of the park will be seeded to grass with the first rains, and the walks will be ornamented with rare flowers and choice shrubbery. This will make a very attractive form of park, and not be nearly as expensive as keeping up an entire flower garden, as was at first intended. Before spring comes the park will be a beautiful spot for a stroll, and the wisdom of the board in going slow with the improvements will no doubt be appreciated.

THE BICYCLE TRACK.

THE BICYCLE TRACK.

The wheelmen determined to have as fine a track as any other city in Southern California, and built one at the corner of Fifth street and Waterman avenue. They went in debt for work on the track and building the grand stand, expecting to come out ahead on the flesta races to pay all bills, but as they had no fence around the lot, their total recipts for that event were $134.80, while their expenses were $200.20, and the Fiesta Committee was called upon to make good that deficiency, so they could pay for the prizes awarded. This called out $63.40 of the flesta funds, and still left the crub in debt $167.60 on the old claims. A committee will start out tomorrow to raise this, offering as a prize to the lucky number, the entire set, American edition, Encyclopedia Britannica, which was presented to the club recently, and which they can find no better use for than to assist in paying their debts. It is hoped that by this means they can raise enough money to not only pay their debts, but have something over with which to erect a fence around the grounds. The wheelmen determined to have as fine a track as any other city in SANTA MONICA, Oct. 6.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Methodists organized an impromutu reception to Dr. Stevenson Friday evening, and on short notice filled the church to overflowing, there being generous delegations from the other churches present, and not a few with no church connections at all. All came together in a spirit of hearty welcome to the returned minister, which was voiced in the short addresses made by Rev. G. H. Dekley, Judge Wells and L. T. Fisher, and replied to by Dr. Stevenson. The church orchestra was in attendance, and refreshments were served. Before adjournment resolutions indorsing Bishop Warren's appointment were passed by a unanimous rising vote. Dr. Stevenson also announced that the cornerstone of the new church would be laid during the coming week, the day to be fixed later. Presiding Elder Green will be present and in charge of the ceremonies.

THE SANDROCK INQUEST.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 6.—The inquest in the case of old Mrs. Sandrock, who was found with her throat cut yesterday in the little store which she concluded until late last night. The evidence established the fact that the woman was murdered for her money. A purse in which she was supposed to have a considerable sum was found ripped open in a little room in which her body was found with her throat cut. The officers are very reticent, but it is believed that they are not now working on the supposition that the deed was committed by Indians, although at the inquest testimony was given that Indians had been seen near the scene of the tragedy. Mrs. Sandrock is said to have been insane at times, and this was claimed by her husband to be the cause of their separation. She was violent during her insane periods. The idea of suicide is not entertained from the fact that, in addition to the bloody knife found near the woman's corpse, a club stained with blood was discovered in the next room, and a bruise on the woman's head showed where it had been used to stun her before her throat was cut.

FEED SWILL TO SWINE. Danger Arising from Private Parties Gathering it.

Attention has recently been called to the fact that swill is not collected by the garbage contractors. The question as to what becomes of the swill is one which will probably in the near future be brought to the notice of the Board of Health. Under the present contract the garbage collectors are required to collect ashes and garbage when the same are separated, but are not required to collect kitchen refuse when it is in liquid form.

A little after midnight a few days ago a Times reporter chanced to be in one of the large hotels when a colored man came in and inquired how it was the swill was gone. He said he had left barrels to put the swill in, but some other person had come there ahead of him and taken it away.

When questioned the colored man admitted he was collecting swill from various pirces to feed to hogs. The garbage collected by the city contractor is cremated. It will be seen that by cremating all garbage there is little opportunity of it being a means for the spread of infectious or contagious diseases.

Objection has been raised against perportunity of it being a means for the spread of infectious or contagious diseases.

Objection has been raised against permitting the feeding to hogs of swill taken from hotels and boarding-houses. Such swill, even when kept in cleanly condition at the various places from which it is gathered, is more than likely to become soured before it is consumed by the swine to which it is fed. If it has become soured before feedings it is unfit for food.

Another danger which may arise from feeding this swill to hogs is that the contents of cuspidors, sweepings or other articles liable to contain disease germs may be mixed with the swill. Should swill containing such matter be fed there is danger of the disease contained in the germs being communicated to the meat. In fact this very point was raised at a meeting of the Board of Health several months ago. It may afford some comfort to those who are in fear of the microbes of disease thus disseminated to say that a prominent health official is authority for the statement that if the matter containing disease germs as above mentioned be in the swill and the swill becomes soured, or, in other words, if decomposition sets in before the swill is consumed by the hogs, there is little or no danger from the disease germs. The souring process destroys them.

Where swill in a cleanly condition is fed to swine before souring, as is done on a farm or ranch, there seems to be no objection to it. The chances for filth of various kinds to become mixed with the swill which is obtained at hotels and restaurants are, however, great. At such places the persons who have charge of it are not likely to take the pains to keep it clean that would be taken at a farm or ranch. Where there is no noe present to see it is not done, there is dianger that the contents of cuspidors and the sweepings from floors.

taken at a farm or ranch. Where there is no one present to see it is not done, there is danger that the contents of cuspidors and the sweepings from fleors would be dumped into the receptacles with it.

The matter, although serious, is a difficult one to regulate. It is expected that the Board of Health will take it under consideration in the near future.

AN EXPLANATION GIVEN.

Taxes Twice.

Persons who have paid their taxes on personal property since March 1, 1895, are being served with notices from the City Tax Collector's office to call and pay the difference between the taxes paid at the rate of $1.20 per $100, the rate for the fiscal year of 1894-95, and the rate fixed in August for the fiscal year of 1895-96, which is $1.45 on the $100. The notice, upon its face, seems expost facto and retroactive in its nature; but investigation proves that such is not the case.

Sec. 58 of the ordinance providing for the levying and collection of municipal taxes, provides that the assessor in collecting taxes, upon personal property unsecured by real estate, must be governed by the rate of the year previous. The taxes upon personal property unsecured by real estate are collected between March 1 and July 1 (approximately.) The ordinance further provides that, after the levy is made, which is an the last Monday of August any ox-that, after the levy is made, which is on the last Monday of August, any excess which has been collected must be returned and if any deficiency exists it must be collected from the property-it must be collected from the propertyowner.

Since the collection of taxes on personal property ended July 1, 1895, (approximately.) for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1895, and the tax levy not being fixed until the last Monday of the following August, it is manifestly impossible for the taxes to be collected under their own rate. If the amount paid proves too small when the rate is fixed the propery-owner must bring his

THEIR REQUEST DENIED. o Special Officer Detailed for Police

Chief of Police Glass will not detail an officer for special duty in the Police Court to serve warrants, subpoenas, etc., as suggested by the Police Court judges. The Chief thinks such action pudges. The Chief thinks such action unnecessary, as he has all along been prepared to have all such services performed by police officers in police cases. It is the duty of every police officer to subpoena the witnesses for each side in every case in which he made the arrest. Some of the officers have been lax in the discharge of their duties in this respect, but special instructions were Some of the officers have been lax in the discharge of their duties in this respect, but special instructions were given yesterday to the different watches as they went out, that each man must hereafter follow his cases through court without outside assistance in serving subpoenas, or be regarded derelict in duty. Besides this, there is always at least one officer on duty at the station daily, whose principal work consists in serving papers for the Police Court. Instantaneous service cannot be made in all cases, as it, would require the entire force to guarantee such results, but the Chief thinks that the present arrangement is sufficient to insure reasonable diligence in the prosecution of police cases. He sees no need for giving constables papers to serve, and he repudiates all responsibility for expenses created by such action. It is the Chief expressed wish that all papers issued by the Police Court be placed in the hand of police officers for service.
